American Airline Passengers Freed

New Electric Rate Increase Starts Today

Increased electric rates are due to go into effect today in Circleville.

According to the local office of the Columbus & Southern Ohio Electric Co., the minimum rate for residential users for 20 kilowatts or less will be increased from the $1 minimum to $1.50. Other new rates are four cents for over 60 kilowatt hours used and three cents for over 120 kilowatts.

Company spokesmen said rates for over 200 kilowatt hours used will be reduced from two to 1.9 cents.

E. G. Parson, C&SOE manager here, said the new rate will mean an increase of approximately 85 cents per month for residential customers in this area.

PARSONS said a new general service small secondary rate will replace the previous commercial rate. He said this will represent an increase of about 18 per cent per month for smaller commercial users.

The rate increase request by Columbus & Southern Ohio was filed with the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio about two years ago. The increase covers the company's Southern District.

Parsons said meters read here starting today will come under the new rate.

Headon Crash On Route 56 Injures Three

Three persons were injured, one severely, in a head-on car-truck collision at 6:25 a. m. today on foggy Route 56 and one-half mile northwest of Laurelville near the Tarlton Rd. intersections.

Investigating officers from the State Highway Patrol listed the injured as: Jerry Lee Noble, 22, of Route 4, Circleville, driver of a pickup truck; his brother, James, 14, a passenger in the truck; and Mrs. Winifred Tattman, 22, of Adelphi, driver of the car.

According to Patrol Reports, a car driven by William E. Neal, 26, of Route 1, Laurelville, moved onto Route 56 after halting at the Tarlton Rd. intersection.

Noble, who was traveling south-east on Route 56, pulled into the left lane in an attempt to pass Neal. Mrs. Tattman's vehicle, obscured by a heavy fog that blanketed the area, was going northeast on Route 56. The car and truck crashed head-on. Neal's car was not involved in the accident.

MRS. TATMAN was removed to Berger Hospital where she was treated for possible fractured ribs, lacerations on her forehead and contusions on her chest and right knee.

She was later released. The Noble brothers suffered cuts and bruises, but were not treated.

Officers listed both vehicles as "total losses". Noble was cited for passing without assured clear distance. Neal was charged with failure to yield the right of way. Both were slated for court appearances later.

Lines $3.5-million prop-jet Electra back from Cuba. It was impounded there in reprisal for seizure of Cuban aircraft in the United States.

The FBI in Miami identified the hijacker as Wilfredo Roman Oquendo, 36, Cuban-born waiter.

Richard S. Beim, of the FBI office reported investigation showed that Oquendo, a naturalized American citizen, was aboard the kidnapped plane under the name of J. Marin.

FBI agents prepared charges of kidnapping, crime on the high seas (assault to commit a felony), assault with a deadly weapon, and interstate transportation of stolen aircraft against Oquendo.

The FBI said his investigation indicated Oquendo is a past member of the Cuban secret police under the regime of ex-President Carlos Prío Socarras, and is a member of Fidel Castro's "26th of July" movement, whose anniversary is being celebrated today in Cuba.

Agents said Oquendo had been in the United States 15 years, is married and has two children. It gave his last known address as Miami, where he was naturalized in 1960.

When he bought an Eastern Air Lines ticket to New Orleans, he gave the name "J. Marin."

Marin was out of reach of U.S. authorities. The last seen of him, Cuban soldiers who disarmed him were leading him away from the hijacked airliner at Havana's Jose Martí Airport. He reportedly told the Cubans he was bringing them an American plane in return for Cuba aircraft seized in the United States to satisfy a tourism advertising bill run up by a Cuban government agency.

In New York, the FBI and police set up security measures at airports to foil a purported Cuban plot for grabbing more American airliners. Police were informed by the FBI that a pro-Castro group met Sunday night at the Casa Cuba Club in New York and planned to sneak hijackers aboard airliners at New York and Tampa.

The prop-jet's 32 passengers and five crew members were happy to be home without being delayed by Castro's 26th of July extravaganza. Some were able to quip about the unscheduled trip to Havana.

"I was bound for New Orleans yesterday (when the plane was hijacked)," said Al Linkes, 49, of North Miami Beach, who distributes film for TV's "Peter Gunn" show and others.

"Now think I'll make an Atlanta trip," Lanken chuckled. George Nathanson, Miami lawyer, said Castro's men "treated us very civilly—except for keeping us in the first place."

The hijacking also changed the plans of Luis Rodriguez, high-ranked welterweight boxing contender, who was en route to New Orleans for a fight Thursday night with Curtis Cokes.

Rodriguez' manager, Ernesto Corrales, said through an interpreter that the fight is postponed — perhaps until a week from Thursday.

September Draft To Be 20,000

WASHINGTON (AP)—The draft call for September will go up to 20,000 men, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said today. The July call was 8,000.

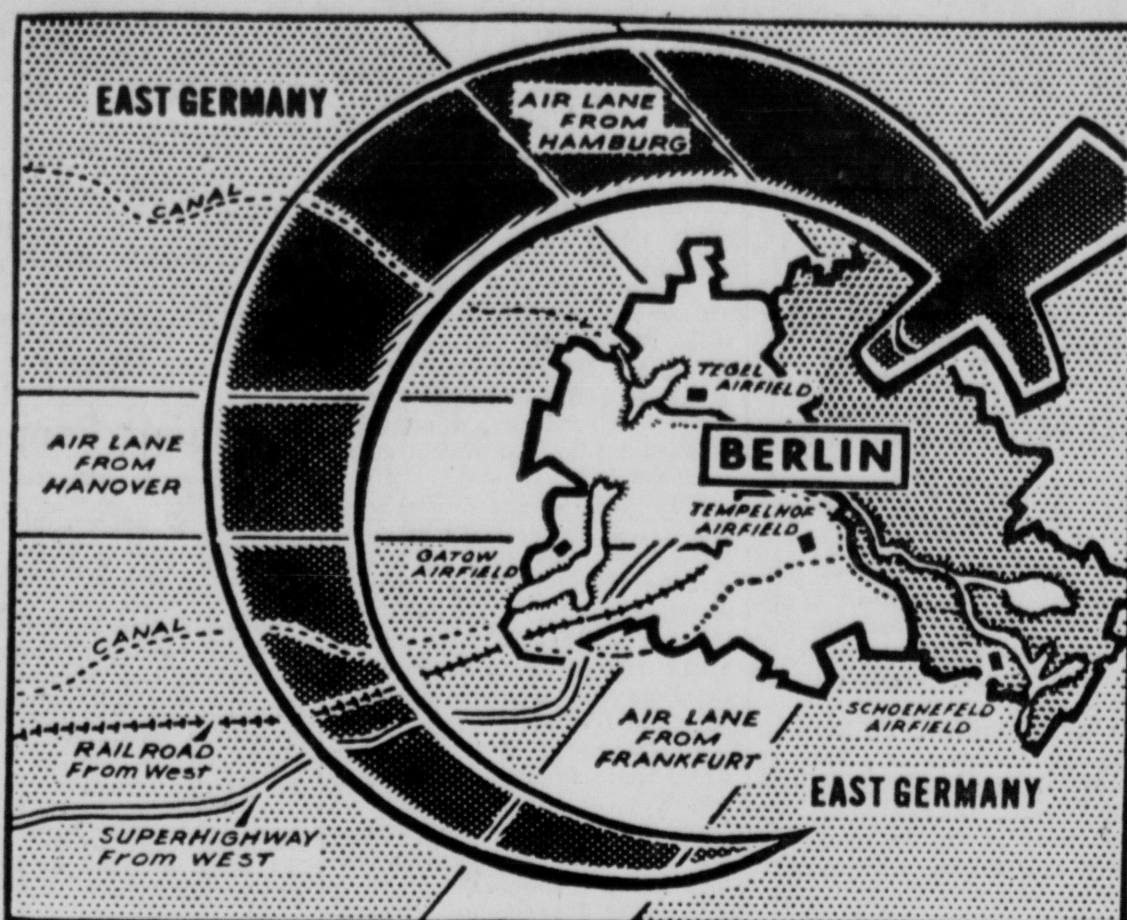

McNamara did not amplify that statement in testimony prepared for the Senate Armed Services Committee. It was considered likely, however, that the higher figure would be maintained until the armed forces have increased their size.

President Kennedy told the nation Tuesday night draft calls would be doubled and tripled as part of the effort to add about 217,000 men to the armed forces.

TROY, Ohio (AP)—A saddened father told Tuesday night of how his 16-year-old son died after being buried by bees.

Ivan Divens said his son, Dexter, lay dying near a barn 75 feet from a hive where an estimated 35,000 bees were swarming. Doctors said the youth died of a rare form of shock after suffering numerous bee stings.

Ohio Gamblers Show Signs of Fresh Fright

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The first of three severe anti-gambling laws passed by this year's legislature won't be effective for five weeks yet, but gambling operators are showing signs of fright.

The dismay among the gambling gentry seems to be general, reaching into all metropolitan areas, an Associated Press survey indicates.

Not that it's impossible to place an off-track horse race wager or bet a buck on the numbers—it's just becoming more difficult, the survey shows.

The talk around the state is that many of the small-time bookies have forsaken the business.

Some of the bigger operators are reporting playing their cards right up against their belt buckles waiting to see what happens when the tough new laws actually are in effect.

Professional gamblers are awaiting the answer to one question: will local officials crack down as hard in enforcement as the legislature did in passing the laws?

The triumph or defeat of the new laws will rest with local officials because neither the legislature nor the state administration has the means to enforce the laws.

The governor does have the right to ask a common pleas court to remove a sheriff if he refuses or neglects to perform his duty in connection with law enforcement. But, even if the court

French, Tunisian Forces Beef Up Bizerte Positions

TUNIS (AP)—French and Tunisian forces in battle-scarred Bizerte were strengthening their military positions today against the threat that fighting would break out again.

The French commander, Vice Adm. Maurice Amman, called the situation explosive and said the French had to police the area. The French showed no sign of withdrawing from the city of Bizerte in accordance with the U.N. Security Council cease-fire resolution calling for a pullback by both nations.

Tunisian President Habib Bourguiba told a news conference Tuesday "fighting is bound to start again" unless the French withdraw into the Bizerte naval base, leaving the Tunisians in control of the channel between the Mediterranean and the base.

In Bizerte Tunisia troops still held only the native quarter. Arrivals from there said they were erecting protective ramparts for infantrymen guarding the gates of the walled quarter.

Negotiations to make the cease-fire permanent were still blocked by a point-of-pride dispute over where to hold the talks. The French insisted on a neutral site; The Tunisians held out for the local government headquarters in Bizerte.

Kennedy Speech Accepted Here with Mixed Emotions

The general trend of conversation today, both on the streets and in the offices of downtown Circleville, was not the usual "weather and local subjects" of discussion. People's attention centered on President John F. Kennedy's radio-TV speech last night on the Berlin crisis.

Staunch members of the Republican party lauded JFK's stand on the situation, while others (some Democrats) bitterly attacked the President's remarks during the 31-minute and 10-second speech.

Many young men downtown seemed enthused and others were terrified at the thoughts of their selective service status.

Typical comments concerning JFK's talk were: "The best darn talk I ever heard from a President of the United States"; "If Nixon had been elected last Fall we wouldn't be in this mess," and so on.

ONE of the striking phases of Kennedy's radio-TV speech that created most comments here was: "I am well aware of the fact that American families will bear the burden of these requests. Studies or careers will be interrupted; husbands and sons will be carried away; incomes will be reduced. But these are burdens which must be borne if freedom is to be defended."

The general opinion today was that there is no doubt that the chief executive's requests to increase the defensive manpower will effect many young men in this area.

The local draft call in Pickaway County has been held to a minimum of one and two for the past several months. However, the quota has been filled by volunteers for quite some time. In this case men eligible for selective service are volunteering to meet military obligations. This automatically fills the quota.

No figures have been released concerning the percentage of increase in the draft call for this area.

Many Pickaway County men are members of various Reserve and National Guard units. Several are assigned to the Ohio 83rd Reserve Air Division and many more train with the 166th Air National Guard Squadron at Lockbourne Air Force Base.

Gagarin Gets Full Honor at Havana Rally

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro's revolution celebrates its eighth anniversary today with a giant Havana rally, a major speech by Castro and Soviet spaceman Yuri Gagarin as guest of honor.

Thousands poured into the capital to cheer the Soviet conqueror of space and to hear the bearded prime minister whose revolt finally overthrew Dictator Fulgencio Batista two and a half years ago.

Today was the third of four days of celebrations commemorating the ill-fated attack on the Moncada barracks in Santiago in 1953 that marked the birth of Castro's revolution. But a parade of 70,000 Tuesday abounded with pictures of Lenin and Soviet Premier Khrushchev as well as the heroes of the Cuban revolt.

Electric signs lit up the sky over Havana with the word "paz"—peace.

Gagarin shared the honors with Castro Tuesday night at a swank Soviet embassy reception.

Mobilization May Be Next Step for U.S.

Worldwide Communist Threat Could Bring New Call to Colors

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's call to the colors for thousands of Americans may be only the first step toward mobilization to meet the worldwide Communist threat.

Kennedy indicated as much in moving to boost the nation's manpower by 217,000, to mass heavier conventional firepower, and to array more ships and planes to ferry U. S. fighting men to an area.

"In the days and months ahead," he told the nation Tuesday night, "I shall not hesitate to ask for additional measures from the Congress, or exercise any of the executive powers I possess to meet this threat to the peace."

"Everything essential to the security of freedom will be done; and if that should require more men, taxes, controls or other new powers, I shall not hesitate to request them."

Kennedy called for a boost of 217,000 soldiers, sailors and airmen by doubling or tripling draft running at 6,000 to 8,000 a month, and by mustering some reserve and National Guard units.

Counting earlier requests for 25,000 more men, this would swell the total of U.S. men-at-arms to 2,735,000.

If he feels the need, Kennedy could draw heavily on 400,000 National Guardsmen and 1,700,000 Army ready reservists as well as thousands more Marine, Air Force, and Navy reserves.

More than two weeks ago, Soviet Premier Khrushchev declared he was canceling announced plans to slash the Soviet armed forces which now stand at about 3.6 million men. He said he was increasing arms outlays this year by about $3 billion. To maintain strategic U. S. bombing strength, the President announced he was setting aside, at least for now, plans to retire the aging six-jet B47s. There are about 1,000 of these 600-plus-mile-an-hour bombers in this country's long-range striking force.

676 do all this, Kennedy sought a $3,247,000,000 boost in this year's defense budget. Counting previous requests, this would bring to $6 billion the additions he has asked for preparedness since taking office. It would bring the military budget to $47.5 billion — the biggest by far since World War I.

Of the latest increase, about $1.8 billion would be used to buy non-nuclear arms and equipment. Army would go up from 875,000 to 1,088,000, the Air Force from 825,000 to 888,000, and the Navy from 625,000 to 657,000.

The additional 125,000 army troops would be used to fit out present Army divisions, and to make more men available for prompt shipment to threatened areas.

The Army now numbers 14 regular divisions—five in Germany, two in Korea, one in Hawaii and six in the United States.

To bring about a relatively quick beef-up in vital air and sea capability, Kennedy looked to the Air National Guard and the mothball fleet of reserve ships.

Kennedy Pledges No Surrender

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy asked Congress today for $3.5 billion in new defense funds to re-enforce the nation's military might in preparation for a showdown with Russia over Berlin.

Following up a declaration Tuesday night that the United States will defend Berlin with force if the Russians try to drive out the Western powers, Kennedy sent a message to Congress today asking for a 217,000-man increase in the nation's regular armed forces.

He followed that up with a request that Congress authorize him to call up reserve forces and to extend enlistments and tours of duty of military personnel including the National Guard.

Specifically he asked authority to call up to more than 250,000 members of the ready reserve—either as units or as individuals—for up to 12 months active duty.

He also asked authority to extend for 12 months enlistments, active duty, obligated service or other military status of any member of the armed services or the National Guard that expire before July 1 next year.

He already had announced that he was ordering draft calls "doubled and tripled" so that as many as 24,000 young men a month may soon be going into uniform. The July call was for 8,000 men.

To raise the permanent level of the nation's conventional warfare forces, Kennedy asked Congress to add $3,545,600,000 to appropriations for the Defense Department.

It would bring the total asked for the Defense Department military operations for the present fiscal year up to $47,507,113,000.

World reaction to Kennedy's speech divided on cold war lines. West Germans were delighted at his firm stand. Other West Europeans and their friends abroad warmly endorsed the President's pronouncement, with its prospects for improvement in the military posture of the United States and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The Soviet news agency Tass said in a Washington summary that Kennedy had seized on "the so-called threat to West Berlin, allegedly coming from the Soviet Union," as an excuse to justify the arms race.

The first significant reaction from the neutralist sphere came in New Delhi, where a senior Indian Foreign Ministry official called Kennedy's appeal for increased defense spending extremely unfortunate.

Refusing to be identified by name the representative of Prime Minister Nehru's government.

Several weeks ago it was hinted that the 83rd might be among Reserve units activated. Tuesday night President Kennedy announced he hopes to activate Air National Guard tactical fighter squadrons, of which four are based in Ohio.

Three of the units—the 162nd at Springfield, the 164th at Mansfield and the 166th at Columbus—are in the Ohio Air Guard's 121st Tactical Fighter Wing, commanded by Col. Dale E. Shafer Jr. of Germantown. The fourth, the 112th based at Toledo, is in the Indiana Air Guard's tactical fighter wing.

During the Korean conflict only the 166th Fighter Squadron was recalled to active duty.

Planned long ago, but coming at an opportune time, will be a federal inspection this weekend of the units of the 121st Wing. The inspection team from Langley Air Force Base, Va., will check on training and its results during the Thursday-Sunday stay in Ohio.

The Ohio Air Guardsmen also have their two - week summer training coming up next month. The 166th will be at Myrtle Beach AFB taking part in the largest peacetime Army-Air Force field maneuver Aug. 6-20, while the other two squadrons will train at Collins Field at Alpena, Mich.

ment added that Kennedy's emphasis on holding the door open for a peaceful settlement was very welcome.

"Let us pray statesmanship will prevail," he said.

Kennedy said Tuesday night he does not plan to ask for new taxes now but declared he would propose tax increases if necessary later.

The appropriations Kennedy asked include $207 million for stepped-up civil defense program, handled by the defense department. Of this, he said about $40 million would be spent during the current fiscal year, which ends next June 30.

Likewise he estimated that $2,740,000,000 of the $3,247,000,000 he asked for the military forces would be spent in the current year. Government spending regularly lags behind appropriations.

Kennedy said the total expenditures on defense for this fiscal year are now estimated at a little more than $46.5 billion. The increases will mean a deficit of around $5 billion by the time the fiscal year ends next June 30.

In a no surrender speech Tuesday night on the Berlin crisis and the worldwide Communist threat, the President laid out his six-point program of military preparation and told the nation in grim words intended also for Soviet Premier Khrushchev:

"We do not want to fight—but we have fought before."

He pledged to take the initiative in seeking a peaceful solution through negotiation with the Soviet Union but ruled out any solution which would yield West Berlin to Communist demands.

"We seek peace," he said, "but we shall not surrender."

Congress Gives Backing to JFK

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional leaders today enthusiastically backed Kennedy's appeal for increased defense spending. There was no public dissenting voice to his program of boosting military strength by 217,000 men.

There even was Republican backing for a $207-million break-ground fund for building civilian defense fallout shelters. In the past, Congress has snubbed such requests.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said he has concluded "we have reached the stage where we must do something about this. We cannot permit the Russians to use this avenue of possible blackmail."

Many who applauded Kennedy's firm stand on Berlin said the hoped the extra defense outlay could be offset by postponing some of Kennedy's domestic programs.

There was a general sigh of relief in Congress that Kennedy was not asking for an immediate increase in taxes.

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., head of the Senate Preparedness subcommittee, said members have to face the fact that the President's program may require a boost in taxes. But he said he, for one, wouldn't vote for an increase "until we have made every effort to make savings elsewhere."

Dirksen said that his only critical comment about Kennedy's report to the nation was that he was giving up some of his domestic programs.

Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., said the Democratic administration already has given signs it intends to do this. Case said Kennedy had indicated he intends to "get going on the facts of strength without rattling the sword."

There was no dissenting note to Kennedy's declaration that the West intends to stand on its rights in Berlin — and fight for them if necessary.

Ohio Gamblers Show Signs of Fresh Fright

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The first of three severe anti-gambling laws passed by this years legislature won't be effective for five weeks yet, but gambling operators are showing signs of fright.

The dismay among the gambling gentry seems to be general, reaching into all metropolitan areas, an Associated Press survey indicates.

Not that it's impossible to place an off-track horse race wager or bet a buck on the numbers—it's just becoming more difficult, the survey shows.

The talk around the state is that many of the small-time bookies have forsaken the business.

Some of the bigger operators are reporting playing their cards right against their belt buckles waiting to see what happens when the tough new laws actually are in effect.

Professional gamblers are awaiting the answer to one question: will local officials crack down as hard in enforcement as the legislature did in passing the laws?

The triumph or defeat of the new laws will rest with local officials because neither the legislature nor the state administration has the means to enforce the laws.

The governor does have the right to ask a common pleas court to remove a sheriff if he refuses or neglects to perform his duty in connection with law enforcement. But, even if the court

French, Tunisian Forces Beef Up Bizerte Positions

TUNIS (AP)—French and Tunisian forces in battle-scarred Bizerte were strengthening their military positions today against the threat that fighting would break out again.

The French commander, Vice Adm. Maurice Amman, called the situation explosive and said the French had to police the area. The French showed no sign of withdrawing from the city of Bizerte in accordance with the U.N. Security Council cease-fire resolution calling for a pullback by both nations.

Tunisian President Habib Bourguiba told a news conference Tuesday "fighting is bound to start again" unless the French withdraw into the Bizerte naval base, leaving the Tunisians in control of the channel between the Mediterranean and the base.

In Bizerte Tunisia troops still held only the native quarter. Arrivals from there said they were erecting protective ramparts for infantrymen guarding the gates of the walled quarter.

Across the street, in the modern European section, French paratroopers were throwing up sandbagged positions. The heavily

Kennedy Speech Accepted Here with Mixed Emotions

The general trend of conversation today, both on the streets and in the offices of downtown Circleville, was not the usual "weather and local subjects" of discussion. People's attention centered on President John F. Kennedy's radio-TV speech last night on the Berlin crisis.

Staunch members of the Republican party lauded JFK's stand on the situation, while others (some Democrats) bitterly attacked the President's remarks during the 31-minute and 10-second speech.

Many young men downtown seemed enthused and others were terrified at the thoughts of their selective service status.

Typical comments concerning JFK's talk were: "The best darn talk I ever heard from a President of the United States"; "If Nixon had been elected last Fall we wouldn't be in this mess," and so on.

ONE of the striking phases of Kennedy's radio-TV speech that created most comments here was: "I am well aware of the fact that American families will bear the burden of these requests. Studies or careers will be interrupted; husbands and sons will be carried away; incomes will be reduced. But these are burdens which must be borne if freedom is to be defended."

The general opinion today was that there is no doubt that the chief executive's requests to increase the defensive manpower will effect many young men in this area.

The local draft call in Pickaway County has been held to a minimum of one and two for the past several months. However, the quota has been filled by volunteers for quite some time. In this case men eligible for Selective Service volunteer to meet military obligations. This automatically fills the quota.

No figures have been released concerning the percentage of increase in the draft call for this area.

Many Pickaway County men are members of various Reserve and National Guard units. Several are assigned to the Ohio 83rd Reserve Army Division and many more train with the 166th Air National Guard Squadron at Lockbourne Air Force Base.

Additional Air Guard groups at LAFB are the 121st Supply Squadron and the 121st Tactical Hospital Squadron.

Gagarin Gets Full Honor at Havana Rally

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro's revolution celebrates its eighth anniversary today with a giant Havana rally, a major speech by Castro and Soviet spaceman Yuri Gagarin as guest of honor.

Thousands poured into the capital to cheer the Soviet conqueror of space and to hear the bearded prime minister whose revolt finally overthrew Dictator Fulgencio Batista two and a half years ago.

Today was the third of four days of celebrations commemorating the ill-fated attack on the Moncada barracks in Santiago in 1953 that marked the birth of Castro's revolution. But a parade of 70,000 Tuesday abounded with pictures of Lenin and Soviet Premier Khrushchev as well as the heroes of the Cuban revolt.

Electric signs lit up the sky over Havana with the word "paz"—peace.

Gagarin shared the honors with Castro Tuesday night at a swank Soviet embassy reception.

Mobilization May Be Next Step for U.S.

Worldwide Communist Threat Could Bring New Call to Colors

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's call to the colors for thousands of Americans may be only the first step toward mobilization to meet the worldwide Communist threat.

Kennedy indicated as much in moving to boost the nation's manpower by 217,000, to mass heavier conventional firepower, and to array more ships and planes to ferry U. S. fighting men to an area.

"In the days and months ahead," he told the nation Tuesday night, "I shall not hesitate to ask for additional measures from the Congress, or exercise any of the executive powers I possess to meet this threat to the peace."

"Everything essential to the security of freedom will be done; and if that should require more men, taxes, controls or other new powers, I shall not hesitate to request them."

Kennedy called for a boost of 217,000 soldiers, sailors and airmen by doubling or tripling draft running at 6,000 to 8,000 a month, and by mustering some reserve and National Guard units.

Counting earlier requests for 25,000 more men, this would swell the total of U.S. men-at-arms to 2,735,000.

If he feels the need, Kennedy could draw heavily on 400,000 National Guardsmen and 1,700,000 Army ready reservists as well as thousands more Marine, Air Force, and Navy reserves.

More than two weeks ago, Soviet Premier Khrushchev declared he was canceling announced plans to slash the Soviet armed forces which now stand at about 3.6 million men. He said he was increasing arms outlays this year by about $3 billion. To maintain strategic U. S. bombing strength, the President announced he was setting aside, at least for now, plans to retire the aging six-jet B47s. There are about 1,000 of these 600-plus-mile-an-hour bombers in this country's long-range striking force.

616 do all this, Kennedy sought a $3,247,000,000 boost in this year's defense budget. Counting previous requests, this would bring to $6 billion the additions he has asked for preparedness since taking office. It would bring the military budget to $47.5 billion — the biggest by far since World War I.

Of the latest increase, about $1.8 billion would be used to buy non-nuclear arms and equipment. Army would go up from 875,000 to 1,092,000, the Air Force from 825,000 to 888,000, and the Navy from 625,000 to 657,000. gress to boost the Marines from 175,000 to 190,000.

The additional 125,000 army troops would be used to fill out present Army divisions, and to make more men available for prompt shipment to threatened areas.

The Army now numbers 14 regular divisions—five in Germany, two in Korea, one in Hawaii and six in the United States.

To bring about a relatively quick beef-up in vital air and sealift capability, Kennedy looked to the Air National Guard and the mothball fleet of reserve ships.

Korea Executes 3 Commie Agents

SEOUL (AP)—The South Korean military government today announced the execution of three Communist agents convicted in 1958 by President Syngman Rhee's government.

Kim Chung-je, a former police officer, and two others were hanged on July 11, the Justice Ministry said.

The three were sentenced to death for spying for the North Korean Communist regime, but the executions were delayed by appeals.

Dayton Project Denied

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House defeated by a 65-32 standing vote Tuesday an effort to add to defense department construction funds $781,000 for remodeling a former shop at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base near Dayton.

Kennedy Pledges No Surrender

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy asked Congress today for $3.5 billion in new defense funds to re-enforce the nation's military might in preparation for a showdown with Russia over Berlin.

Following up a declaration Tuesday night that the United States will defend Berlin with force if the Russians try to drive out the Western powers, Kennedy sent a message to Congress today asking for a 217,000-man increase in the nation's regular armed forces.

He followed that up with a request that Congress authorize him to call up reserve forces and to extend enlistments and tours of duty of military personnel including the National Guard.

Specifically he asked authority to call up to more than 250,000 members of the ready reserve—either as units or as individuals—for up to 12 months active duty.

He also asked authority to extend for 12 months enlistments, active duty, obligated service or other military status of any member of the armed services or the National Guard that expire before July 1 next year.

He already had announced that he was ordering draft calls "doubled and tripled" so that as many as 24,000 young men a month may soon be going into uniform. The July call was for 8,000 men.

To raise the permanent level of the nation's conventional warfare forces, Kennedy asked Congress to add $3,454,600,000 to appropriations for the Defense Department.

It would bring the total asked for the Defense Department military operations for the present fiscal year up to $47,507,113,000.

World reaction to Kennedy's speech divided on cold war lines. West Germans were delighted at his firm stand. Other West Europeans and their friends abroad warmly endorsed the President's pronouncement, with its prospects for improvement in the military posture of the United States and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The Soviet news agency Tass said in a Washington summary that Kennedy had seized on "the so-called threat to West Berlin, allegedly coming from the Soviet Union," as an excuse to justify the arms race.

The first significant reaction from the neutralist sphere came in New Delhi, where a senior Indian Foreign Ministry official called Kennedy's appeal for increased defense spending extremely unfortunate.

Ohio's Guards Wondering If They Get Call

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's 1,500 Air National Guardsmen are in the same boat as the state's 83rd Infantry Division — all are waiting to see what units will be activated.

Several weeks ago it was hinted that the 83rd might be among Reserve units activated. Tuesday night President Kennedy announced he hopes to activate Air National Guard tactical fighter squadrons, of which four are based in Ohio.

Three of the units—the 162nd at Springfield, the 164th at Mansfield and the 166th at Columbus—are in the Ohio Air Guard's 121st Tactical Fighter Wing, commanded by Col. Dale E. Shafer Jr. of Germantown. The fourth, the 112th based at Toledo, is in the Indiana Air Guard's tactical fighter wing.

During the Korean conflict only the 166th Fighter Squadron was recalled to active duty.

Planned long ago, but coming at an opportune time, will be a federal inspection this weekend of the units of the 121st Wing. The inspection team from Langley Air Force Base, Va., will check on training and its results during the Thursday-Sunday stay in Ohio.

ment added that Kennedy's emphasis on holding the door open for a peaceful settlement was very welcome.

"Let us pray statesmanship will prevail," he said.

Kennedy said Tuesday night he does not plan to ask for new taxes now but declared he would propose tax increases if necessary later.

The appropriations Kennedy asked include $207 million for a stepped-up civil defense program, handled by the defense department. Of this, he said about $40 million would be spent during the current fiscal year, which ends next June 30.

Likewise he estimated that $2,740,000,000 of the $3,247,000,000 he asked for the military forces would be spent in the current year. Government spending regularly lags behind appropriations.

Kennedy said the total expenditures on defense for this fiscal year are now estimated at a little more than $46.5 billion. The increases will mean a deficit of around $5 billion by the time the fiscal year ends next June 30.

In a no surrender speech Tuesday night on the Berlin crisis and the worldwide Communist threat, the President laid out his six-point program of military preparation and told the nation in grim words intended also for Soviet Premier Khrushchev:

"We do not want to fight—but we have fought before."

He pledged to take the initiative in seeking a peaceful solution through negotiation with the Soviet Union but ruled out any solution which would yield West Berlin to Communist demands.

"We seek peace," he said, "but we shall not surrender."

Congress Gives Backing to JFK

GOP Joins Democrats In Solid Support

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional leaders today enthusiastically warned to the Soviet Union that America will fight for Berlin if necessary.

Republicans and Democrats signalled solid support for Kennedy's new defense spending. There was no public dissenting voice to his program of boosting military strength by 217,000 men.

There even was Republican backing for a $207-million break-ground fund for building civilian defense fallout shelters. In the past, Congress has snubbed such requests.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said he has concluded "we have reached the stage where we must do something about this. We cannot permit the Russians to use this avenue of possible blackmail."

Many who applauded Kennedy's firm stand on Berlin said he hoped the extra defense outlay could be offset by postponing some of Kennedy's domestic programs.

There was a general sigh of relief in Congress that Kennedy was not asking for an immediate increase in taxes.

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., head of the Senate Preparedness subcommittee, said members here to face the fact that the President's program may require a boost in taxes. But he said he, for one, wouldn't vote for an increase "until we have made every effort to make savings elsewhere."

Dirksen said that his only critical comment about Kennedy's report to the nation was that the President should have said he was giving up some of his domestic programs.

Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., said the Democratic administration already has given signs it intends to do this. Case said Kennedy had indicated he intends to "get going on the facts of strength without rattling the sword."

There was no dissenting note to Kennedy's declaration that the West intends to stand on its rights in Berlin — and fight for them if necessary.

Local Agency Sponsors Test

The Hummel & Plum Insurance Agency, W. Franklin St., in cooperation with Celina Insurance Group, Celina, will conduct a special testing program of its young male drivers at 7:30 p. m. Thursday at the BPO Elks Home, N. Court St.

The purpose of this written multiple-choice quiz is to help the insurance company establish a measuring device to determine what traits and attitudes of men under 25 years make for stability and a good driving record.

Edward Knapke and David Tatter, representatives of the Celina Group, will attend and participate in an informal educational discussion following the testing session.

Richard Plum, Hummel & Plum official, today said at least 75 young drivers here have agreed to participate in the program Thursday. He said the figure may reach 100.

Plum said his office is accepting the program with enthusiasm. He said it has excellent potential as a means of benefitting good, young drivers as far as insurance is concerned.

Youth Injured in Motorcycle Mishap

An Ashville area youth received minor injuries yesterday when he lost control of his motorcycle on the East Ringgold-Southern Road.

Berter Hospital officials said Arthur Timmons, 18, Route 2, Ashville, received emergency treatment for abrasions of the left arm and was released.

Timmons said he lost control of the vehicle and skidded off the road into a fence on the Loring Leist Farm.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Officials agree the home front would not be ready—despite a considerable measure of civil defense preparedness — if World War II would come this year.

The modestly financed and largely voluntary effort of the past decade has left these assets:

A warning system officially "excellent." From the Arctic outposts a warning can be flashed to more than 400 state and city central warning points in 15 seconds. The relay to 5,000 more local points averages seven minutes. The time is being shortened.

The nationwide wire network for transmission of alerts, orders and information is being backstopped by a radio network for use if the wires are knocked out.

Forty federal agencies, some state governments, and many major corporations have set up secret emergency headquarters remote from target areas and equipped for survival and communication.

Major banks and insurance companies tuck away microfilm copies of their records in blast-proof underground depositories. The Federal Reserve Board has provided for ready-to-use caches of currency.

The annual "Operation Alert" exercises have schooled key federal officials in running the government from hidden "relocation sites," under hypothetical conditions intended to duplicate the chaos that would follow an attack.

Civilian take-over and evacuation drills have had good success in many areas, less satisfactory results in others.

A stockpile of survival items exists but is inadequate. Besides medical and engineering supplies it includes 1,400 emergency hospital setups, distributed in every state and territory.

Some 2,250 executives from industry, labor, education and other fields make up a "National Defense Executive Reserve." All have had at least six months experience in the government. All are pledged to drop their civilian jobs and take over the formation and operation of emergency wartime agencies when and if the call comes.

Twenty-nine states have provided legally — or have begun legislation to do so—the means for designating successors in case state officials are killed, and for running their governments outside the capitals.

Five states—Hawaii, Delaware, Georgia, Virginia and Maryland—have emergency relocation centers—hideaway statehouses. Nebraska has just voted for a blast-proof, $380,000 center. The federal government is to pay half the cost.

These would not be only for civil defense use, but for state government activities.

An office of civil and defense mobilization spokesman said: "It is our idea to avoid martial law, to keep constitutional government operating at every level even under the impact of atomic assault."

Unhappily, civil defense officials admit they do not know how many cities, counties and areas lack a functioning civil defense organization, and how many of those set up in the Korean crisis may have lapsed into inactivity.

Occupational Shortages Told

Employment Bureau Lists Wanted Skills

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Men, if you're an engineer, tool and die maker, draftsman, accountant, welder, machinist or auto maker, there's a shortage of people in your occupation in Ohio.

The same goes for women who are stenographers and secretaries, nurses, typists, social workers, workers, bookkeepers and medical technicians, to mention some of the major categories.

This is the report from the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation.

The BUC pointed out, however, that between April and July, there was a decrease in the list of occupational shortages in Ohio. During this period, machine tool operators and metallurgists were dropped from the shortage list.

There was a definite surplus, though, of people holding construction occupations, the BUC said. This, it added, was due in all probability to this year's late resumption of construction activity because of adverse weather.

Surplus male occupations during the second quarter of 1961 included truck drivers, press operators, construction laborers, factory laborers, carpenters, assemblers, welders, painters, heavy equipment operators, bricklayers, inspectors, machine tool operators, electricians, grinders, kiln drawers-placers - setters, maintenance men, pipe fitters, steel metal workers, warehousemen, cement finishers, loaders and mine laborers.

From April to July, surplus occupations existed for women in these categories: Assemblers, sales persons, waitresses, general office clerks, press operators, inspectors-gagers - testers, packers, unskilled workers, clerk typists, sewing machine operators, domestics, stator coil winders, sorters, finishers, trimmers, painters, solderers and welders.

Non-Farming Landlords Get Billion in 60

WASHINGTON (AP)—The agriculture Department reports that slightly more than $1 billion of the $37 billion farmers got from sale of their products in 1960 went back to towns and cities in pay to non-farm landlords.

The payment to landlords included $964 million in rents on land used by tenants and $66 million as the landlords share of government benefit payments to producers under farm programs.

Payments to such landlords have eased off somewhat since 1952 when they reached a record high of $1,421,000,000. But 20 years ago these payments totaled only $448 million.

East German Church Folks Stay in West

BERLIN (AP)—Some of the East German pilgrims to a Protestant rally that closed Sunday are remaining in West Berlin as refugees. Estimates run as high as 2,000.

Church authorities said about 11,000 risked persecution to come from East Berlin and outlying parts of the Red-ruled country and join West Germans in the five-day rally, called the Kirchen-tag.

The Communists had declared this against the law but did not make plain what the punishment might be. The party could take all sorts of reprisals, from refusal of a building permit to barring a child from the school he wants to attend.

Most of the East German pilgrims were expected to follow the advice that the Rev. Kurt Scharf, president of the Evangelical Church in Germany gave at the closing mass meeting in the Olympic Stadium.

"Go back where you came from, to your homes, to your jobs to your neighbors and be a ministering Christian to them," he said.

Communist East Germany's official news agency ADN today accused "the U.S. Secret Service" of luring away the refugees.

U.S. authorities had no comment.

Sales Tax Returns Show Further Dip

Gross sales tax receipts in Pickaway County for the week ending July 22 were listed as $3,391.11 by officials at the County Treasurer's office.

For the week ending July 15, gross county-wide receipts were $3,408.60.

Abundant warm weather is expected to stir area commercial activity in the next few weeks, according to local merchants.

These Were the Good Old Days?

Those who pretend to mourn for a return of the good old days would quickly discover time had lent enchantment to a period which had little to offer by comparison with the present.

When were the good old days? Not 20, 30 or 40 years ago. Sixty, perhaps? What was the city like at the turn of the century? The good old days of which many love to sing.

Streets frequently were ankle deep in mud and excrement. Rains left pools of odoriferous water along the curb, there being little drainage. In dry weather mud was replaced by dust. Single arc lights provided inferior street lighting. Large sections had no lights. Many streets at night were as dreary as a country lane.

Alleys were more unlovely than the streets. Many were lined with the customary Chic Sales architectural masterpieces. Homes were heated by a living room stove. And there were flies — millions of them — everywhere.

It is true a dollar would go farther in the good old days, because it had to. A day's labor frequently netted only a dollar.

Those were the good old days. Want to go back to them?

Heat and Bad Temper

Does summer's hot weather produce ill temper and jitteriness of nerves? People are more wont during this season to manifest dissatisfaction by constant complaints about trifling annoyances.

People with poor self-control go to pieces at the slightest provocation. Frequently an unimportant occurrence will produce an explosion. Individuals who develop a philosophical attitude toward weather will not let slight variations in temperature upset them.

After all, weather is not the monster it was before people had the boons of light clothing, refrigeration, iced drinks, air conditioning, shorter hours of labor, labor-saving devices, protection from flies and mosquitoes, bathing facilities and gas chariots to take them hither and yon.

How To Irk Customs Official

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Remarks by incoming tourists that drive customs inspectors to the border of insanity:

"What's wrong with wearing two overcoats in July? You've just got a naturally suspicious nature."

"Go ahead, wise guy, and open the bag. It took me and my wife and the steward to close it. Let's see how many of you it takes to put it back together again."

"Imagine it—having to be searched to get back into your own country! I'll bet you didn't open Jackie Kennedy's suitcase."

"Personally, I'm a Democrat myself, but I'm a close friend of our Republican county chairman back home. Just what are you fellows looking for most?"

"Have a cigar. Have two cigars."

"It's heartwarming to see how patient and thorough and hard-working you boys are. Never mind that bag over there. It's okay, just laundry."

"Do me a favor, will you? I'm mad at my wife. Open all our bags. The first one is mine—the other 14 are hers."

"Whatever you put in your report, please don't say anything about those towels or ashtrays, or the Hilton people will pick up my credit card."

"I know it looks new but we've had this camera in the family for years. Here, I'll prove it. Stand still, and I'll take your picture. Hey, Maude, come over here."

How do you say this d---d thing works?"

"I suppose a lot of people with things to hide try to softsoap you boys, didn't they? Heh, heh, heh."

"Now I wonder who is the world put that in there."

"I don't see how you can deny it's an antique. We bought it on a six-month around-the-world cruise, and I'm 66 years old myself."

"Yes, it does have a 25,000 franc price tag, but you know how the French exaggerate. Actually, it's just a little cognac for my old Aunt Melissa."

"They told me it was holy water and now you tell me it's whisky. The saints be praised, it's a miracle!"

Victory Is in Attaining Goals

By George Sokolsky

The evidence of survival is survival; the evidence of victory is in the attainment of goals and purposes.

In our conflict with Soviet Russia, it cannot be said that we are succeeding or failing because we have not stated our goals and purposes; we have not made it clear that we have any or want any. Instead, it would appear that we are playing along by ear. From Roosevelt through Eisenhower, ours has been an exercise in opportunism and we have survived.

However, the arms race is a practical factor in the battle for survival from two standpoints:

1. The actual accumulation of the means of destruction and defense in such quantities and efficiencies that there can be no doubt as to eventual victory;

2. What will such preparedness do to our economy; what will it do to our social and political institutions? How much can we afford to expend of our national wealth before we are forced to lower our standard of living? Or to put it another way, can we maintain our way of life, both economically and politically, under the pressure of prolonged preparation for war?

Senator J. W. Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, has said:

"The answer, of course, is policy. We must develop policies against which we can properly evaluate our initiatives and our responses to critical events. We must also develop style."

It is a little late in the game to develop policies. We have been engaged in an effort to establish world leadership for years. During that period, changes have been wrought in human institutions such as have not been made in a thousand years or more. Do we move like an inhuman juggernaut, not knowing where we go, responding to challenges by enormous efforts and then subsiding to lick our wounds?

This is not functioning according to policy as the Monroe Doctrine, the Hay Open Door Policy, the freedom of the seas which were specific American policies to which we adhered rigidly. We could gamble that in such matters we meant what we said and that we would act if the events called upon us to support our position.

When Senator Fulbright uses the word, style, it is much like saying that our opportunism has been undignified and even meaningless. His own definition of the term is:

"It is style—our performance as a nation and a great power—that determines the credibility of our policies. In the present struggle, style is as important as power."

The functioning of the State Department during the first half year of the Kennedy Administration has been without style as Senator Fulbright defines it. The fault has been in the President's desire to assemble as much talent as he could get to work under one roof. But he brought together too many men who regard themselves of equal rank and wisdom.

Thus the President and Secretary of State have been faced by the private views of Chester Bowles, who regards himself as an expert on Asia, although his only relationship to that continent has been a short tenure as Ambassador to India. There he fell under the mystic spell of Nehru whose concern is India, not the United States.

Just as Bowles has been confusing American policy toward Asia, so must Allen Dulles of the CIA assume full responsibility for the Cuban fiasco. Just as Anthony Eden brought obloquy upon his government, so Allen Dulles should have resigned when the activities of the CIA regarding Cuba proved to be amateurish and ridiculous.

There can be an excess of talent. That is why no symphony orchestra is made up of concert artists, each one of whom plays according to his own interpretation. Such an orchestra would sound like a collection of madmen and that, of course, is what happens when too much talent is brought together under the roof of the State Department.

Dean Rusk, Dean Acheson, Chester Bowles, Adlai Stevenson, and the other great minds must pull each his own way and according to his definition of his integrity. Then to them we must add the President and his private experts who also have views of their own and the President's views are final.

Thus we create confusion which established neither policy nor a propriety. President Kennedy will be forced by events and the needs of his office to rid himself of conflicting personalities.

Inside You and Yours

By BURTON H. FERN, M.D.

Dear Doctor: Recently, I've started taking Epsom salts daily for high blood pressure. It works like magic.

Can all this Epsom salts harm me?

Dear Mrs. W.: Instead of high blood pressure, you'll have the laxative habit! And nourishing foods will race through the intestines without being absorbed into the body.

Your blood pressure may drop, but so will your health.

Ask your doctor.

Dear Doctor: My right jaw began to hurt four months ago while I was talking angrily. The pain hasn't let up.

What could cause this?

Dear Mrs. S.: Arthritis of the jaw joint just in front of the ear. Or a jaw bone slightly out of joint.

Perhaps you merely lost a filling.

Let your dentist have a peek so the pain can take a powder!

Dear Doctor: No matter what I eat my heart starts to pound an hour or so after meals. Why?

Dear Mrs. H.: Turn your question upside-down and you'll find that your heart pounds before meals?

Perhaps you have an upside-down stomach or stomach in the chest. Heavy gravity can weigh down the stomach and push it back into the abdomen. Your doctor can tell more when he checks you over.

Dear Doctor: How do quick-tanning lotions work? They're supposed to tan you in three hours with or without the sun.

Can they harm the skin?

Dear Mrs. M.: All such lotions contain a chemical that filters sunlight and helps you tan without burning. Another chemical quickly stains the outer layer of the skin. This false tan soon peels, exposing your true suntan.

They'll Do It Every Time

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP)—Steelmen see better days ahead—especially if the automakers will cooperate.

The mills had looked for a sizable increase in output next month. But with Detroit, one of its biggest customers, hesitant about placing new orders, the steel industry now looks for its sharp upturn after Labor Day.

This is of more moment than just the outlook for the two industries themselves. The whole economy is affected when these two rise or fall.

The auto industry is uncertain about its course because of the labor negotiations now building up to a climax, and because of some doubt about the spending plans of consumers.

General nervousness about how affairs are going both in Washington and overseas as well as in the stock market is making it hard to tell how eager the public will be to buy a new car this fall.

The steelmen are stressing, however, that both output and earnings picked up in the April-June quarter after a dreary first three months. And they say orders for August are still coming in at a rate that will send steel output above the current unofficial operating rate of about 65 per cent of capacity.

But earnings for the first half of the year ran well behind those in the like period of 1960. Price cutting in some specialized steel products has disturbed the industry at a time when it would very much like to raise prices instead. They face a scheduled rise in labor costs in the fall.

The trade weekly, Iron Age, reports that some Midwest steel mills are now turning out more tonnage than they are shipping. It says at least part of this buildup in mill inventories is deliberate.

Some producers plan to provide nearly immediately delivery to meet the expected fall rise in demand, thus giving them a selling point over competitors. And some have chosen to keep output relatively level this month in spite of the summer order slowdown both as a customer relations and labor relations move.

The publication also says that some automakers overbought during the early part of the summer and now find themselves with a greater tonnage than usual when going into the changeover period. Steelmen are looking for better orders from some of their other chief customers.

Increased government spending plans are expected to boost the steel needs of the construction industry. While private housing starts have remained fairly steady, public housing programs are increasing. More defense orders also should mean more business for the steelmakers.

Modern steel mills turn out much more tonnage than the older ones did. Costs have been cut so that the breakeven level is much lower now than a few years back. Even when producing at 50 per cent of capacity a number of companies have shown a net profit.

Any sizable increase in sales, therefore, should bring a much larger rise in profits. That's what the companies are counting on this fall.

Looking Back in Pickaway County

FIVE YEARS AGO

The Pickaway County Agricultural Stabilization Conservation Office reported that farmers who complied with the 1956 laws governing corn allotment would be paid $1.55 per bushel of grain.

Carolyn Huffer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Huffer, 426 N. Court St., became the bride of David List, son of Mr. and Mrs. Luther List, Route 1.

City residents were warned by the Service Department about depositing rubbish in the city streets.

TEN YEARS AGO

A newly enacted state law concerning the expanded jurisdiction of municipal courts did not affect the local justice of the peace courts.

Pickaway Countians donated 33 pints of blood during the regular visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile.

A motorist passing north of South Bloomfield was shocked "beyond words" when a horse suddenly jumped on the hood of his car.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
The first tennis match of the season was scheduled with the Park Place Club vs the Country Club Players.

Ray W. Davis, local attorney, was spending a few days in Cleveland on business.

Miss Elsie Updyke, Wagnut Twp., was visiting with her sister, Mrs. Robert Elliott and family, Cincinnati.

Letter to The Editor

This letter will be of interest to the voters and taxpayers of Deercreek Twp.

Do you voters remember you passed a bond in 1954 for all roads of your township to be resurfaced? At that time one road was still a so-called cow path and not ready for blacktop.

The three trustees blacktopped all the roads of the township except the Tootle road, but they graveled it in preparation for blacktop.

Before leaving office as trustee, Mr. Harry Puffinbarger and the two remaining trustees had made arrangements for funds to be set aside to blacktop the Tootle road when it was in proper condition. It has been in condition now for several years but there is still no blacktop on it.

Furthermore the township trustees can't account for the money which was supposed to be set aside for the one-mile paving of Tootle Road. In fact, they say the township funds are completely gone. According to the County Auditor's office, they have only been using .80 of one mill of the bond.

If so, why isn't there money for one mile of blacktop? I think it is time voters and taxpayers were more careful when election day comes instead of complaining about all the taxes that have to be paid.

I can certainly understand better now why our Deercreek Twp. School system is on the way down instead of improving with the other townships surrounding us.

I didn't know until a few days ago that Mr. Puffinbarger and Mr. Ross Straley were responsible for the blacktop road winding through our community Cemetery. The third trustee at that time supposedly was against the blacktop project on the dusty cemetery road.

I wish to sincerely say "thank you" Mr. Puffinbarger and Mr. Straley.

These Were the Good Old Days?

Those who pretend to mourn for a return of the good old days would quickly discover time had lent enchantment to a period which had little to offer by comparison with the present.

When were the good old days? Not 20, 30 or 40 years ago. Sixty, perhaps? What was the city like at the turn of the century? The good old days of which many love to sing.

Streets frequently were ankle deep in mud and excrement. Rains left pools of odoriferous water along the curb, there being little drainage. In dry weather mud was replaced by dust. Single arc lights provided inferior street lighting. Large sections had no lights. Many streets at night were as dreary as a country lane.

Alleys were more unlovely than the streets. Many were lined with the customary Chic Sales architectural masterpieces. Homes were heated by a living room stove. And there were flies — millions of them — everywhere.

It is true a dollar would go farther in the good old days, because it had to. A day's labor frequently netted only a dollar.

Those were the good old days. Want to go back to them?

Heat and Bad Temper

Does summer's hot weather produce ill temper and jitteriness of nerves? People are more wont during this season to manifest dissatisfaction by constant complaints about trifling annoyances.

People with poor self-control go to pieces at the slightest provocation. Frequently an unimportant occurrence will produce an explosion. Individuals who develop a philosophical attitude toward weather will not let slight variations in temperature upset them.

After all, weather is not the monster it was before people had the boons of light clothing, refrigeration, iced drinks, air conditioning, shorter hours of labor, labor-saving devices, protection from flies and mosquitoes, bathing facilities and gas chariots to take them hither and yon.

How To Irk Customs Official

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Remarks by incoming tourists that drive customs inspectors to the border of insanity.

"What's wrong with wearing two overcoats in July? You've just got a naturally suspicious nature."

"Go ahead, wise guy, and open the bag. It took me and my wife and the steward to close it. Let's see how many of you it takes to put it back together again."

"Imagine it—having to be searched to get back into your own country! I'll bet you didn't open Jackie Kennedy's suitcase."

"Personally, I'm a Democrat myself, but I'm a close friend of our Republican county chairman back home. Just what are you fellows looking for most?"

"Have a cigar. Have two cigars."

"It's heartwarming to see how patient and thorough and hard-working you boys are. Never mind that bag over there. It's okay, just laundry."

"Do me a favor, will you? I'm mad at my wife. Open all our bags. The first one is mine—the other 14 are hers."

"Whatever you put in your report, please don't say anything about those towels or ashtrays, or the Hilton people will pick up my credit card."

"I know it looks new but we've had this camera in the family for years. Here, I'll prove it. Stand still, and I'll take your picture. Hey, Maude, come over here."

How did you say this d—d thing works?"

"I suppose a lot of people with things to hide try to softsoap you boys, didn't they? Heh, heh, heh."

"Now I wonder who is the world put that in there."

"I don't see how you can deny it's an antique. We bought it on a six-month around-the-world cruise, and I'm 66 years old myself."

"Yes, it does have a 25,000-franc price tag, but you know how the French exaggerate. Actually, it's just a little cologne for my old Aunt Melissa."

Victory Is in Attaining Goals

By George Sokolsky

The evidence of survival is survival: the evidence of victory is in the attainment of goals and purposes.

In our conflict with Soviet Russia, it cannot be said that we are succeeding or failing because we have not stated our goals and purposes; we have not made it clear that we have any or want any. Instead, it would appear that we are playing along by ear. From Roosevelt through Eisenhower, ours has been an exercise in opportunism and we have survived.

However, the arms race is a practical factor in the battle for survival from two standpoints:

1. The actual accumulation of the means of destruction and defense in such quantities and efficiencies that there can be no doubt as to eventual victory;

2. What will such preparedness do to our economy; what will it do to our social and political institutions? How much can we afford to expend of our national wealth before we are forced to lower our standard of living? Or to put it another way, can we maintain our way of life, both economically and politically, under the pressure of prolonged preparation for war?

Senator J. W. Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, has said:

"The answer, of course, is policy. We must develop policies against which we can properly evaluate our initiatives and our responses to critical events. We must also develop style."

It is a little late in the game to develop policies. We have been engaged in an effort to establish world leadership for years. During that period, changes have been wrought in human institutions such as have not been made in a thousand years or more. Do we move like an inhuman juggernaut, not knowing where we go, responding to challenges by enormous efforts and then subsidizing to lick our wounds?

This is not functioning according to policy as the Monroe Doctrine, the Hay Open Door Policy, the freedom of the seas which were specific American policies to which we adhered rigidly. We could gamble that in such matters we meant what we said and that we would act if the events called upon us to support our position.

When Senator Fulbright uses the word, style, it is much like saying that our opportunism has been undignified and even meaningless. His own definition of the term is:

"It is style—our performance as a nation and a great power—that determines the credibility of our policies. In the present struggle, style is as important as power."

The functioning of the State Department during the first half of the Kennedy Administration has been without style as Senator Fulbright defines it. The fault has been in the President's desire to assemble as much talent as he could get to work under one roof. But he brought together too many men who regard themselves of equal rank and wisdom.

Thus the President and Secretary of State have been faced by the private views of Chester Bowles, who regards himself as an expert on Asia, although his only relationship to that continent has been a short tenure as Ambassador to India. There he fell under the mystic spell of Nehru whose concern is India, not the United States.

Just as Bowles has been confusing American policy toward Asia,

so must Allen Dulles of the CIA assume full responsibility for the Cuban fiasco. Just as Anthony Eden brought obloquy upon his government, so Allen Dulles should have resigned when the activities of the CIA regarding Cuba proved to be amateurish and ridiculous.

There can be an excess of talent. That is why no symphony orchestra is made up of concert artists, each one of whom plays according to his own interpretation. Such an orchestra would sound like a collection of madmen and that, of course, is what happens when too much talent is brought together under the roof of the State Department.

Dean Rusk, Dean Acheson, Chester Bowles, Adlai Stevenson, and the other great minds must pull each his own way and according to his definition of his integrity. Then to them we must add the President and his private experts who also have views of their own and the President's views are final.

Thus we create confusion which established neither policy nor a propriety. President Kennedy will be forced by events and the needs of his office to rid himself of conflicting personalities.

Years later the heirs discovered the meaning of this cryptic phrase. It was "Tempted and Fell."

Inside You and Yours

By BURTON H. FERN, M.D.

Dear Doctor: Recently, I've started taking Epsom salts daily for high blood pressure. It works like magic.

Can all this Epsom salts harm me?

Dear Mrs. W.: Instead of high blood pressure, you'll have the laxative habit! And nourishing foods will race through the intestines without being absorbed into the body.

Your blood pressure may drop, but so will your health.

Ask your doctor.

Dear Doctor: My right jaw began to hurt four months ago while I was talking angrily. The pain hasn't let up.

What could cause this?

Dear Mrs. S.: Arthritis of the jaw joint just in front of the ear. Or a jaw bone slightly out of joint.

Perhaps you merely lost a filling.

Let your dentist have a peek so the pain can take a powder!

Dear Doctor: No matter what I eat my heart starts to pound an hour or so after meals. Why?

Dear Mrs. H.: Turn your question upsidedown and you'll find that your heart pounds before meals?

Perhaps you have an upside-down stomach or stomach in the chest. Heavy gravity can weigh down the stomach and push it back into the abdomen. Your doctor can tell more when he checks you over.

Dear Doctor: How do quicktanning lotions work? They're supposed to tan you in three hours with or without the sun.

Can they harm the skin?

Dear Mrs. M.: All such lotions contain a chemical that filters sunlight and helps you tan without burning. Another chemical quickly stains the outer layer of the skin. This false tan soon peels, exposing your true suntan.

Dear Doctor: I'm now 40. I've always been troubled with swollen feet and ankles especially in hot weather. Why?

Mrs. B. C.

Dear Mrs. C.: Returning from your feet, blood has to fight its way uphill. The slightest back pressure slows the flow and forces fluid to ooze out in feet and ankles. It makes this swelling worse.

Some swellings stem from varicose veins, blood clots, etc.

For the right answer, you'll have to see your doctor.

Dr. Fern's mailbox is wide open for letters from readers. While he cannot undertake to answer individual questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Fern in care of this newspaper.

Journalism Fund Goes to University

CINCINNATI (AP)—The funds of the Lee Evans Roundtable, a group formed to encourage young newspapermen, were turned over to the University of Cincinnati for similar purposes.

Hal Metzger, former city editor of the Cincinnati Enquirer and president of the Roundtable, together with Enquirer newsmen Bill Hessler and Dwight Bicknell have signed over the $10,000 plus interest in the group's treasury.

It was given to set up a Lee Evans Memorial Fund at the university, with the interest to provide scholarships, particularly for young persons interested in newspaper work.

CASPER, Wyo. (AP)—Getting a bad check from a cross-country truck driver riled Don Bear, owner of a small Casper service station.

He hopped in his car and drove 900 miles to LeCenter, Minn., to collect.

Bear not only received payment for the 150 check, but got another $100 to cover expenses of his trip.

Miss Miller, Mr. Wilkinson Nuptials Read in Oxford

Miss Margaret Miller and Mr. Dale Edwin Wilkinson were united in marriage at the Miami University Sesquicentennial Chapel in June.

The Rev. George Huber pastor of the Church of Christ of Oxford performed the ceremony before an altar decorated with an arrangement of chrysanthemums and greenery. Palms flanked each side of the chancel steps.

The bride wore a floor length gown of white satin and organza with lace bodice which featured a scalloped neckline and full-length sleeves coming to points over the hands.

Side panels of lace highlighted the full skirt. Her veil of illusion was held to a crown of pearls and she carried a bouquet of white flowers.

Attending the bride were her two sisters, Mrs. Carol Works, matron of honor, and Janet Miller, bridesmaid. Miss Mary Lou Napier, Oxford, also was a bridesmaid.

All wore gowns of white nylon net over taffeta of varying shades of pink taffeta. Crowns were their headpieces and each carried a nosegay of summer flowers.

Ring bearer was David Miller and flower girl was Linda Works. Jerry Cassill, brother-in-law of the groom, was best man for Mr. Wilkinson. Ushers were George E. Miller Jr. and Fred Newman.

Ruth Ann Messimer was organist and Mr. Miller, the bride's father, presented the prelude of wedding music.

Mrs. Miller, mother of the bride, wore a green embroidered dress of nylon with white accessories.

Mrs. Wilkinson was attired in a navy blue sheath with white accessories. Each wore a corsage of white flowers.

Aunts of the bride, Mrs. William Herdtner, Mrs. Clifford Miller, Mrs. Billy Hoffman and Mrs. Joseph Miller, served as hostesses at the reception held in the Chapel social rooms.

Following a wedding trip to Cumberland Falls and Mammoth Cave, Ky., the couple will make their home in Cincinnati.

The new Mrs. Wilkinson is a graduate of the Cincinnati Bible Seminary.

Mr. Wilkinson is a graduate of Circleville High School. He also is a graduate of Carnegie College, Cleveland and Miami University. He is a technician at Hilltop Laboratories in Cincinnati.

Barbe-cues

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

You can lead a man to a barbeque but you won't have to make him cook. Even a guy who can't boil water on the kitchen stove turns into a chef as soon as the scene of cooking moves outdoors.

He'll Have Answer

It's magic — the kind you should make the most of! Madam! Play your cards properly and Pop will be the one answering the "What's cooking?" question for the rest of the summer.

Of course you can help, and occasionally lend a hand with food preparation. But you can give the biggest assist by seeing that Pop has the latest cooking aids, for there are countless conveniences available for the barbeque chef.

Fabulous Foil

High on the list is a fabulous foil that cuts cooking time practically in half. Black on one side, shiny on the other, it's a real improvement.

The black surface absorbs infra-red cooking rays, while the shiny surface reflects them.

The results? A large Idaho potato bakes in 35 minutes. Meat, fish and fowl cook quickly and will brown beautifully right inside the black-on-one-side foil paper.

Sure-Fire Aid

Also handy to have at the barbeque is an aerosol can containing a foam-gel charcoal lighter. It guarantees sure-fire starts every time, makes charcoal burn hotter cleaner and longer.

Special pots and pans for outdoor cooking are also to be had.

One 5-piece camping kit, for example, is a marvelous adjunct for barbequing, providing the equipment needed for such things as steaming corn and keeping the barbeque sauce hot.

Paper Products

Paper products save much time and work for the barbeque chef. They make a disposal bag your dishwasher.

Keep a stock of plastic-coated paper plates handy for hot, moist foods. Use uncoated paper plates for bread or cake.

Paper cups come in many sizes for hot or cold drinks. Paper napkins and place mats add a fancy touch to the outdoor service.

And to make the cook feel like a V.I.P., we suggest one more paper set — a barbeque apron and hat that will give him the look of a real chef!

Q. Is it a general rule that children with epilepsy are mentally dull?

A. Medicine used in the control of epilepsy may cause some mental slowdown but doctors are often agreeably surprised to find how slight this may be. As far as epileptic children being dull, a study conducted in England showed—curiously enough—that children with epilepsy generally have higher I.Q.'s than the average.

Q. I was born with only one good kidney. Now it's infected. Would it be dangerous for me to have children?

A. We think your doctor would give an unqualified "yes" to this question.

Backyard Toys For the Kids

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

The kids are on vacation—and right in their own backyard, for summer toys have transformed the old stamping ground into a regular playland.

There are all sorts of toys available for fun in the sun.

Scene Of Activity

The sandbox, for example, is the scene of much activity because the season's newest toys include some designed for budding road builders.

These include a scale model mobile crane that can be operated with live action, just like the real giant model. Open hand wheel permits Junior to control raising, lowering and loading, while the other raises and lowers the boom.

Tricky Truck

Another tricky toy truck is one with a trailer holding a boat and motor. It has a side ramp that drops for loading. White wall tires, windshield wipers, side-view mirrors and a horn add interest.

Grooming stars for the 1970 Olympics? Look for toys designed to train tomorrow's athletic stars today.

These include game sets with javelin, discus, high and low-jump hurdles, plus twine for measuring record throws.

New Transports

The kid's transportation picture presents some newcomers, too, including a rickshaw and a bulldozer that the youngsters can operate. Also look for a make-believe barbeque with all the tools, and some toy hamburgers.

Feel in the mood for merry-making? One set provides all the makings for a carnival. There are target games, a puppet show and soft drink stand, as well as other carnival features.

One of the most popular newcomers of the season is a junior version of the outdoor trampoline. Designed for youngsters up to 12, this children's model stands only 10 inches from the ground and is guaranteed to keep the kids jumping.

No Problem

Fun and games? They're no problem this year, says experts at the Toy Guidance Council. There's something to suit every age, every purse and every child's taste.

The Country Life!

DEAR ABBY: When we bought this house in the country, the real estate dealer said it was a "fashionable suburban district."

The people next door to us must think they are living 100 miles from nowhere. Every morning, when the husband is running for the bus, his wife yells after him what to bring home from the store. And at midnight their 6-year-old boy is still up playing with his guns.

I was criticized for keeping my screen door latched. I was told that people who live in the suburbs "trust" each other. Yet I can't leave the milk money in the milk bottles because somebody always gets it before my milkman. Have you any advice for a disgusted suburbanite?

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter eloped hastily, and we have succeeded in getting her marriage annulled. The whole thing was a nightmare, and we do not care to talk about it. What should we tell people who ask for the details?

PARENTS IN A DILEMMA
DEAR PARENTS: Don't tell them anything. Your friends won't ask you and your enemies won't believe you anyway.

DEAR ABBY: I have a little boy four years old. I've taught him to ask me when he wants candy, chewing gum, etc. (I have seen so many children go into the drawers and help themselves without asking permission.) It has gotten so that my son now asks my permission for everything. Such as, "May I take off my sweater?" Or, "Should I ride my tricycle or play with my dump truck?" Do you think have been too strict about insisting that he ask for my permission? Will my strictness cause him to be unable to decide anything for himself?

CONCERNED

DEAR CONCERNED: You were wise to have trained your son to ask for permission for any "goodies" he wanted, but you should have told him WHY he must have your permission to eat sweets. When he seeks approval on a decision that is no consequence, explain that he may do as he wishes. He'll soon learn what requires permission and what doesn't.

DEAR ABBY: What, exactly, does it mean when a girl wears a boy's school ring on the third finger of her right hand?

INQUISITIVE

DEAR INQUISITIVE: It means she has him wrapped around her finger.

What's bothering you? For a personal reply, write to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif., include a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Learning Letup

Q. What makes children lose interest in learning as they grow older?

A. We doubt that this is really the case. It's true that small children display interest in learning by tirelessly turning knobs, opening doors, repeating words, and asking questions. As they grow older the desire to learn becomes less obvious because their interests may be in things which parents (and teachers) consider relatively unimportant. The teenager who is bored to tears in school may spend hours taking an old car apart "to see how it works." Educators generally agree that there is no learning letup if adolescents are provided interesting and exciting scholastic learning situations. But children can't be "pushed." Their own motivations must be aroused.

Q. Are there any lab tests for the diagnosis of schizophrenia (split personality)?

A. No. One stumbling block seems to be the lack of complete medical agreement on the exact nature of schizophrenia. A group of afflicted patients may all show similar outward symptoms but there are very likely many differences in body chemistry among them. To be useful, laboratory tests must show differences between normal subjects and afflicted persons. This can not now be done in schizophrenia.

Q. I was born with only one good kidney. Now it's infected. Would it be dangerous for me to have children?

A. We think your doctor would give an unqualified "yes" to this question.

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

DEAR ABBY: When we bought this house in the country, the real estate dealer said it was a "fashionable suburban district."

The people next door to us must think they are living 100 miles from nowhere. Every morning, when the husband is running for the bus, his wife yells after him what to bring home from the store. And at midnight their 6-year-old boy is still up playing with his guns.

I was criticized for keeping my screen door latched. I was told that people who live in the suburbs "trust" each other. Yet I can't leave the milk money in the milk bottles because somebody always gets it before my milkman. Have you any advice for a disgusted suburbanite?

DISGUSTED
DEAR DISGUSTED: Tell your

The Country Life!

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter eloped hastily, and we have succeeded in getting her marriage annulled. The whole thing was a nightmare, and we do not care to talk about it. What should we tell people who ask for the details?

PARENTS IN A DILEMMA
DEAR PARENTS: Don't tell them anything. Your friends won't ask you and your enemies won't believe you anyway.

DUV Presidents Observe Picnic

The Birthday of Mrs. E. A. Smith was celebrated at the annual picnic of the Past Presidents' Club of the Daughters of Union Veterans.

The picnic was held in the cottage of Mrs. C. O. Kerns at Stoutsville Camp Ground. Seven members and one guest were present.

After dinner Mrs. E. L. Tolbert conducted a brief business meeting and Mrs. Kerns presented a program of beatitudes.

Mrs. Tolbert read a sketch by Ben Burroughs and a poem "Convidence of Children." Mrs. Smith read "Seeing the best in Others," and Mrs. Kerns presented "God of the Healing" and "Internal Now."

Mrs. Irene Jenkins gave a reading called "Friendliness." Mrs. Frank Webbe presented "Avoiding Trouble." Mrs. David Blue gave "Spacious Habitations," and Miss Nellie Palm presented "Divinity."

The next meeting will be August 15. The place will be announced later.

Wife Preservers

You can launder lace tablecloths by machine as well as by hand, but either way you should use warm — not hot — suds and no bleach. After rinsing squeeze out excess water without wringing or twisting; do not dry in machine.

Ohio Agencies Seek To End Venereal Disease Ignorance

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ignorance once again has become an ally of venereal disease, and two departments of Ohio's State government are trying to do something about it.

This phase of the over-all battle against VD is being directed toward an area where infection has been increasing—those under age 20.

Spearheading the campaign are the Ohio departments of health and education.

Working with the U.S. Public Health Service and local agencies on the over-all anti-VD program, officials of Ohio's Health Department have seen the total number of syphilis cases reported in Ohio drop to 4,078 during the past year.

That's less than the number of actively infectious cases—5,514—reported in 1946, when the total number of reported syphilis cases in Ohio was 17,986. Of the 4,078 total reported over the last year, only 206 were considered actively infectious.

But there were 9,960 reported cases of gonorrhea in Ohio during 1960, highest since 1949.

Of the known VD cases in Ohio, about one in five involved a person younger than 20. Gonorrhea in particular has been increasing in this age category. State officials are trying to combat it with a special education program now beginning its fourth year.

A grant from the U.S. Public Health Service helps support the project.

During the past year, Dr. Ralph E. Dwork, state health director, and Dr. E. E. Holt, state superintendent of public instruction, sent a joint memo to superintendents of all school districts. It said in part:

"It was found that principal

Child Neglect Jury Ready In Cincy Case

CINCINNATI (AP)—A jury of nine women and three men was impaneled Tuesday in Municipal Court to try Mrs. Frances Ware, 35, on a charge of child neglect.

Mrs. Ware was arrested July 12 after police, searching her home, found three retarded children, ages 2, 4 and 6, in a locked and dark and smelly secret room.

The room was sparsely furnished and the children were wearing only diapers.

At the time of the arrest, Policewoman Elizabeth Pack said Mrs. Ware told she had been caring for children for several years. She said she kept the three in the locked room because "if they were allowed to romp around they got the other children upset."

Four other children were found in the main part of the house. Two of them were those of Mrs. Ware's husband, Wenzel Ware, by a previous marriage.

One was the eight-year-old child of Prof. Edwin Alderson of Lexington, Ky. The other, Mrs. Ware said, was an illegitimate child she had taken in.

It was Prof. Alderson's inquiry that led to the search of Mrs. Ware's home. He came here seeking her whereabouts and said she had disappeared from Lexington two years ago with his child for whom she had been caring. She formerly lived in Lexington.

obstacle to venereal disease education was the average teachers' lack of knowledge concerning the disease.

To meet the situation, the Health Department has helped plan 32 training conferences at which more than 1,000 teachers have been briefed. A special guide booklet for teachers has been circulated.

A fact pamphlet about VD called "Strictly for Teenagers" has been issued. More than 70,000 copies have been circulated thus far, and many other states and organizations have requested copies.

Says Donald A. Campbell, former Alliance teacher and football coach and consultant for the department on the project: "I could run a mail order business if I wanted to."

The pamphlet was prepared by the Health Department in cooperation with the Education Department because, Campbell says:

"We found most teaching materials were not suitable. Health texts mention the problem in sketchy form if at all, and other materials were more for the general population. We felt if it was going to have a lasting effect, it would have to be a regular part of the curriculum."

The department also has 27 copies of an 18-minute color film released two years ago by the Kansas State Board of Health and titled: "The Innocent Party". An effective and dramatic education device, it tells of a teen-age lad who picks up a girl, contracts syphilis and passes it on to his steady girl friend. Through the words of their doctor, the message about VD is delivered.

The film is loaned to schools. Health Department officials also assist schools in gaining parental support for the VD education program. And Dr. Dwork has appointed a 17-member special advisory board of classroom teachers, school administrators, health commissioners, family life education specialists and others to assist.

Desert Water Found To Be Centuries Old

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Ancient waters, death among the mammoths, and bug wars are in the science news:
Old Water.

Water in some deep wells in the Saudi Arabian desert appears to range from 20,000 to nearly 25,000 years old, three U.S. Geological Survey scientists report.

They measured the age of water through its content of radioactive carbon-14, which is formed in the atmosphere by cosmic rays, and then drifts to earth or falls in rainwater.

The deep well water may have fallen as rain during the Wisconsin glacial period when there were heavy rains, said Leland Thatcher, Meyer Rubin and Glen F. Brown. They analyzed samples of water collected by the Arabian American Oil Company.

Bug War
To fight insect pests, use bug-eating bugs, urges Carl B. Huffaker of the University of California.

He doesn't think man has done enough to enlist predatory bugs as allies in fighting pests, and thinks they can do a good job.

In a current project Huffaker is trying to find a natural enemy to control scale insects in olive trees, and says a very effective predatory insect has been imported from Persia. A related insect, from Spain, didn't work out too well, he adds.

As successes in bug-to-bug war, Huffaker cites the importation of Australian beetles to control a weed in Northern California's rangelands, and the spread of milky white disease among Japanese beetles infesting eastern states.

Demise of the Mammoths
There's a wide belief that glaciers sweeping down from the north suddenly wiped out 50,000 woolly mammoths roaming the Siberian tundras 10,000 to 30,000 years ago.

But William R. Farrand of Columbia University's Lamont Geological Observatory, finds evidence against this theory.

He agrees the mammoths did die suddenly, as evidenced by food found in their teeth and stomachs, but thinks they were probably asphyxiated when they

Famed Cow-in-Silo Dies of Old Age

YUKON, Okla. (AP)—Grady the cow, a 1,200-pound Hereford who jumped through a 17 by 25½ inch silo feed door into national prominence 12 years ago, died Monday not far from the silo where she spent four confusing days.

Her owner, Bill Mach, said the 18-year old cow "just got tired and died of old age. Mach found Grady dead in her corral on his ranch Monday night.

Grady jumped into the silo on Washington's Birthday in 1949, after having a hard time giving birth to a calf which died.
For the next four days, Grady

Chicagoans Admit Kidnaping Charge

ELKINS, W. Va. (AP)—Two Chicago men indicted for kidnaping a Newell, W.Va. motorist changed their pleas to guilty in U.S. District Court today.

The defendants, Harry J. Sembrakis, 27, and Gusta D. Psigois, 23, both formerly of Sardis, Ohio, had entered pleas of innocent when arraigned here July 17.

After they came into court and pleaded guilty, Judge Charles F. Paul transferred the cases to Wheeling, where the men will come up for sentencing.

Sembrakis and Psigois hitchhiked a ride with James Graham at East Liverpool, Ohio. After Graham crossed the Ohio River into West Virginia, they pulled a gun on him and forced him to drive them to Hookstown, Pa., where Graham was released un-paced inside the silo. John Randolph, Associated Press staff member at Oklahoma City at the time and now AP general executive for Asia, was one of the first reporters on the scene.

From the time Randolph wrote "hi diddle diddle, the cat and the fiddle, the cow jumped into the silo, until Gray oozed her way out of her prison, the 6-year-old bovine held the nation's attention.

Before Grady was freed, Mach heard from folks in 45 states and several foreign countries.

There were numerous suggestions including a block of advocates of greasing Grady so she could squirt through the opening once a little pressure was applied from behind.

The greasers won. Ralph Partridge, Denver Post farm editor, flew here and smeared the fidgety cow with about 10 pounds of axle grease. A veterinarian gave her a sedative to calm her nerves.

A lariat was looped around her de-horned head and manpower was supplied from behind. After a few minutes, Grady caught on, wiggled her hips a couple of times and squeezed through.

Grady settled down, lived quietly afterwards and gave birth to several healthy calves.

She also stayed away from silos.

Pre-Operative Advice

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—Heavy smokers should cut down drastically on their smoking for a week or two before an operation, says Dr. Emil A. Narlerio, chief of thoracic surgical services at Columbus Hospital, New York. He told delegates to a medical society meeting that failure to take this precaution subjects a patient to post-operative pulmonary complications.

OU Branch Urges Early Registering

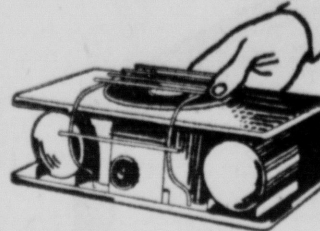

All freshmen who expect to carry a full load the coming school year at the Ohio University Lancaster Branch College are urged to complete their registration as soon as possible.

At the present time everyone has the privilege of selecting the choice class periods. As the classes fill the less desirable periods may be the only available times open for students.

Working students should register while the selection is greatest since they may experience a conflict with their working hours.

The completion of the application form and the high school transcript does not constitute college registration. Students must come to the office to actually select the subjects for the school year.

These figures were reported by the Bureau of Business Research of Ohio State University. The bureau said a little more than half of the dollar - volume increase from 1935 and 1939 is attributable to the rise in the price level during the periods.

When adjustment is made for price changes, and sales for earlier years expressed in dollars of constant purchasing power, said the bureau, "it is apparent that the physical volume of goods sold at retail in Ohio in 1960 was still more than twice the physical volume in 1939.

Only 39 remains of mammoths have been found, and this number is about what could be expected from accidental burial, he says. The fact most of the remains were decayed or mutilated by predators before freezing indicates the mammoths didn't perish suddenly in glaciers.

Flier Credited With Finding New Comet

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — "I've been looking for one all my life, said the man credited with discovering Comet Wilson while flying at 29,000 feet off the Oregon coast.

A. Stewart Wilson, 34, of Seattle, second officer on a Pan American World Airways flight from Honolulu, said he was looking casually for the planet Mercury with his binoculars.

Then a wedge of light appeared and narrowed to a point — the head of a comet.

At San Francisco, other airline pilots also reported seeing a mysterious light Sunday and Monday mornings, but Wilson, an amateur star gazer, apparently was first to report it.

When Wilson got home he tried to telephone Harvard Observatory. He couldn't raise anyone so he wired, Monday Harvard reported the discovery and said the name would be Comet Wilson.

The new comet has a long tail and third magnitude brightness, which makes it two to three times dimmer than the North Star but much brighter than the Milky Way.

Harvard said it can be seen in the northeastern sky in early morning.

6 Ohioans Added To Peace Corps

WASHINGTON (AP) — When the largest Peace Corps training class to date convenes Monday at Pennsylvania State University, six Ohioans will be among its approximately 150 members.

Men and women in the class are candidates for service as teaching assistants in the Republic of the Philippines. The training program lasts seven weeks, and those who successfully complete it will begin their Peace Corps assignments in the fall.

The Ohioans are Mary L. Baker, 29, Willoughby; Jacqueline M. Cipiti, 22, Cleveland Heights; Michael L. Forman, 21, Akron; DeJores D. Hawraney, 23, Columbus; Susan M. Johnson, 23, Steubenville, and Clair A. Whiting, 23, Cincinnati.

Off They Go . . .

BENTON, Tenn. (AP) — Mrs. Nora Epperson has contributed three members to the U. S. Air Force — a son and two daughters. Charles has been assigned to study Russian at Syracuse University, and daughters Katie and Jeannie have been assigned to the Air Force hospital at Lackland AFB, San Antonio, Tex.

Flier Credited With Finding
New Comet

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — "I've been looking for one all my life, said the man credited with discovering Comet Wilson while flying at 29,000 feet off the Oregon coast.

A. Stewart Wilson, 34, of Seattle, second officer on a Pan American World Airways flight from Honolulu, said he was looking casually for the planet Mercury with his binoculars.

Then a wedge of light appeared and narrowed to a point — the head of a comet.

At San Francisco, other airline pilots also reported seeing a mysterious light Sunday and Monday mornings, but Wilson, an amateur star gazer, apparently was first to report it.

When Wilson got home he tried to telephone Harvard Observatory. He couldn't raise anyone so he wired. Monday Harvard reported the discovery and said the name would be Comet Wilson.

The new comet has a long tail and third magnitude brightness, which makes it two to three times dimmer than the North Star but much brighter than the Milky Way.

Harvard said it can be seen in the northeastern sky in early morning.

6 Ohioans Added
To Peace Corps

WASHINGTON (AP) — When the largest Peace Corps training class to date convenes Monday at Pennsylvania State University, six Ohioans will be among its approximately 150 members.

Men and women in the class are candidates for service as teaching assistants in the Republic of the Philippines. The training program lasts seven weeks, and those who successfully complete it will begin their Peace Corps assignments in the fall.

The Ohioans are Mary L. Baker, 29, Willoughby; Jacqueline M. Cipiti, 22, Cleveland Heights; Michael L. Forman, 21, Akron; Dolores D. Hawraney, 23, Columbus; Susan M. Johnson, 23, Steubenville, and Clair A. Whiting, 23, Cincinnati.

Off They Go . . .

BENTON, Tenn. (AP) — Mrs. Nora Epperson has contributed three members to the U. S. Air Force — a son and two daughters. Charles has been assigned to study Russian at Syracuse University, and daughters Katie and Jeannie have been assigned to the Air Force hospital at Lackland AFB, San Antonio, Tex.

Alaska Trip Starts For Leatherwoods

ALASKA BOUND — Guy H. Leatherwood (right) and son, Edwin, were packed and ready at an early hour today for the first leg of their journey to Alaska. The Leatherwoods plan an extensive tour over the famous Alcan Highway. At the trip's end they will sell their car and fly home.

Editor's Note: Mr. Guy H. Leatherwood of Ashville and his son, Edwin, are driving to Alaska. The Herald has made arrangements for a series of articles concerning the highlights of the trip. Leatherwood is a graduate of Waverly (Ohio) High School and has lived in Pickaway County since 1936. He is president of the Circleville Swimming Club and works for the Post Office Department in the Columbus and Ashland Highway Post Office which serves Circleville. Edwin, a 1960 graduate of OSU, a u g h t Science at Montgomery Junior High School in San Diego, Calif., this past year. He plans to enter graduate school at Ohio University this fall. Here is the first of a series on their trip.

By GUY H. LEATHERWOOD
ALASKA! The Forty - Ninth State! Today my son and I are heading for the land that has been fabulous in fact and fiction for nearly a century. A land that has played so large a part in the development of our country as well as in the defense of it.

But the future — the real future of Alaska is very bright as it is truly the last frontier.

Ever since I was a child and read books that had to do with this wondrous country of the North, this land of Jack London's characters in "The Call of the Wild" and the famous characters of the $98 gold rush as immortalized by Robert Service and others in verse and prose, I have wanted to visit it. This seems to me to be one of the top attractions of this globe.

When the Alaska Highway (sometimes called the Alcan Highway) was pushed through as a military expediency in 1942, my interest was again aroused to visit this vast area. The famed highway was opened to unrestricted travel in 1947.

From the U. S.-Canadian border to Fairbanks is approximately 2,350 miles, 1,500 of which are somewhat isolated but apparently adequate.

Ford, Union Seek Way To Prevent Walkout

CLEVELAND (AP)—Ford Motor Co. and United Auto Workers Local 420 met for the second straight night Tuesday to remedy union grievances and prevent a strike at the suburban Walton Hills Stamping Plant, which employs 3,000.

More than half of them voted Sunday authorizing a strike, setting midnight Tuesday as the deadline.

country at its best and to partake of its unspoiled beauty, it is advisable to see it before the highway is paved — and commercialized.

We do not have rigid plans or timetables for the trip. We want to see the country and possibly catch some of the fish for which the area is noted. Then we would like to sell our 1957 model car and fly home.

On paper this sounds good to us and we hope we can work it out as planned. We plan to provide local readers with first hand information on the conditions encountered enroute along with interesting pictures of the area.

Cement Workers Get New Contract

CHICAGO (AP)—The United Cement Workers announced today that new two-year agreements providing a 14 cents an hour wage increase have been negotiated with all major companies.

Felix C. Jones of Chicago, president of the union, said about 27,000 production and maintenance workers in 135 plants operated by 25 major companies and many single plant firms are covered by the contracts.

Terms of the new agreements included wage increases of 6 cents the first year and 8 cents the second; payment by the employer of all health and welfare costs; a $5 a week increase, to $55, in sick and accident benefits; 10 cent and 15 cent per hour differentials for second and third shift work; payment for time lost on jury duty; eight paid holidays; time and a half for Sunday work; and protection of workers against effects of automation.

'Home on the Range' Case Studied by Judge

CINCINNATI (AP) — Probate Court Judge Chase M. Davies, who had to find where "the home on the range" is, says he has received plenty of help. After newspaper stories appeared saying John J. O'Hara, Norwood, left a $500 bequest to the home, Judge Davies received 41 letters, plus telegrams and phone calls, about it.

Most of the correspondents, the judge said, described a Catholic boys' home at Sentinel Butte, N.D., as "The Home on the Range." Judge Davies said Tuesday he will answer each letter and decide later where the money will go.

British Handed Stiff New Tax, Interest Rate

'Crisis' Budget Aimed At Helping Nation's Faltering Economy

LONDON (AP) — In the 1959 national election, Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's Conservative Party campaigned on the slogan: "You never had it so good."

Tuesday, Macmillan's government boosted Britain's basic bank interest rate, increased purchase and excise taxes and called for a reduction of government spending in an attempt to correct the country's faltering economy.

Selwyn Lloyd, chancellor of the exchequer, presented a crisis budget of these interlocking austerity measures to the House of Commons.

It touched off an angry demonstration by opposition Laborites. They shouted demands for the Conservative government to resign.

The Bank of England interest rate went to 7 per cent from 5—the highest it has been since the Suez crisis of 1956. The bank rate governs interest charges throughout the country. Raising the rate tends to tighten credit and, the government hopes, check inflation.

There was some speculation in business circles that the bank rate increase might start a new drain on U.S. gold reserves, since speculators probably will pump money into London to take advantage of the bigger interest yield.

Teachers will be among the first to feel the weight of the economies. Lloyd turned down salary boosts recommended for teachers by an investigating committee.

Lloyd added a 10 per cent surcharge to existing rates of the sales tax. That applies to a wide range of consumer goods—everything from automobiles and television sets to wallpaper, lipsticks, shoes and clothing.

The effects, the chancellor said, will be to withdraw 200 million pounds—$560 million of consumer spending from the economy in a year. This measure is designed to stifle consumption at home in the interest of an export drive.

Lloyd also announced that Britain will make a substantial drawing from the International Monetary fund to bolster the country's gold and dollar reserves.

In this way the government served notice on international speculators that the pound—supported in a range from $2.78 to $2.82—would not be devalued.

Lloyd did not give the actual sum to be asked from the fund. "The actual amount will be announced shortly," he said.

He said Britain also intends to cut defense expenditures.

Referring to the NATO commitments in Western Europe, he declared: "The strain upon the balance of payments caused by this expenditure cannot be allowed to continue in the next financial year."

Takes a Trimming

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — When an 18-year-old appeared in city court to answer charges of corner-lounging, City Judge James B. McKenna said he didn't like the boy's unruly looks.

When the lad's mother said she was broke, the judge took up a collection and sentenced the youth to a barber's chair.

Kennedy Talk Is Welcomed Throughout Western Europe

BERLIN (AP)—President Kennedy's speech was warmly welcomed today in threatened West Berlin and throughout Western Europe.

West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, declared in Bonn he was "happy that the United States has resolutely taken over the leadership of the West."

West Berlin's morning newspapers remade their late editions to carry long excerpts from the address. A typical headline was the Morgenpost's "Kennedy prepared to do everything for Berlin's freedom."

The speech came too late for editorial reaction in most European capitals, but the liberal Le Matin of Antwerp, Belgium, commented:

"This speech means above all that the United States wants to fully assume its duties as leader of the Western world. Kennedy clearly expressed the American determination to take the diplomatic initiative back from the U.S.S.R."

First Communist reaction was bitter. The official East German news agency, ADN, asserted that Kennedy deliberately distorted Soviet proposals for relieving the Berlin tension.

"He also failed totally to mention the danger to the peace of Europe posed by West German militarism," ADN said.

In Rome, both the official Communist organ L'Unita and the Red-leaning Il Paese described the speech as "threatening and bellicose."

As usual, Moscow radio and the Soviet news agency Tass were silent.

Vienna's independent Kurier headlined the quotation "An attack on Berlin is an attack on us all," and the independent Kronenzeitung said "President Kennedy calls for extreme toughness."

London's Conservative Daily Sketch said Kennedy "gave Mr. Khrushchev a grim warning last night in the toughest speech since he became President."

In Amsterdam, the Liberal De Telegraf carried the headline "United States not too soft to fight" and the Catholic Volkskrant said "Kennedy strengthening forces, willing to talk but also to fight."

The Communist East German radio singled out Kennedy's statement that the West is willing to negotiate over Berlin as a point of difference between Washington and "the extremists in Bonn."

America's allies in Asia were favorably impressed by the speech.

Determined Spirit

AUGUSTA, Kan. (AP) — Lots of girls have finished eight grades of school and only missed one day of school.

But Kathy MacKay did it despite being stricken by crippling polio. She had to undergo surgery three times during summer vacations and has worn a leg brace periodically during the past five years. She finished the eighth this year at the Richland Community school.

Chicago police nabbed an intruder hiding atop a refrigerator in a food store. Now he's in a different type of cooler.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather outlook:

A dry, cool air mass pushed into Ohio during the last 24 hours, clearing skies except in the extreme eastern counties.

Temperatures dropped to 60 at Findlay and Columbus, 62 at Dayton and 63 at Cincinnati. Zanesville reported a low of 59 and Bellaire, with cloudy skies, 65. Fine weather is expected today with maximum afternoon temperatures mostly in the low or middle 80s.

Tonight will continue a fair, but cloudiness will increase Thursday with a chance of showers in the southwest counties by Thursday afternoon.

Low temperatures tonight will be mostly in the neighborhood of 60 degrees.

Better roses this fall and next year

Late summer, early fall is a critical time for roses in these parts. Warm, muggy days promote the harmful activity of black spot, mildew and other diseases.

The result is loss of leaves, naked stems, weak plants, fewer flowers.

You can stop all this, develop sturdier plants, enjoy more blossoms when you protect your rose bushes with HAZE applied as a dry powder with Scotts new ZEPHYR.

Always ready to go. Nothing to mix, measure or spill. You do the whole job on a dozen bushes in less than 2 minutes.

Come in and let us demonstrate. We have a "Special" on the lifetime Zephyr — $9.95. Haze is $1.45.

Better roses this fall and next year

Late summer, early fall is a critical time for roses in these parts. Warm, muggy days promote the harmful activity of black spot, mildew and other diseases.

The result is loss of leaves, naked stems, weak plants, fewer flowers.

You can stop all this, develop sturdier plants, enjoy more blossoms when you protect your rose bushes with HAZE applied as a dry powder with Scotts new ZEPHYR.

Always ready to go. Nothing to mix, measure or spill. You do the whole job on a dozen bushes in less than 2 minutes.

Come in and let us demonstrate. We have a "Special" on the lifetime Zephyr — $9.95. Haze is $1.45.

No Surrender Position Slated By President

Kennedy made clear that the military reinforcements he wants are not to meet the Berlin crisis alone but have been designed through long weeks of planning to give the United States a permanent boost in strength "to meet a worldwide threat, on a basis which stretches far beyond the present Berlin crisis."

He called on the NATO allies to step up their own military preparation toward the 30-division goal which NATO set several years ago for combat-ready defense forces in Western Europe. While he did not mention specific figures he said that nothing less than fulfillment of the agreed level of strength will suffice. He indicated that the United States is ready to put greater resources into Europe's defenses.

The President told the nation his six-point program will require sacrifice, courage and perseverance.

Kennedy said the measures will not immediately require any increase in taxes though they mean an officially estimated budget deficit of more than $5 billion. But he declared bluntly that if tax increases are needed to achieve a balanced budget next January, "those increased taxes will be requested."

The six steps Kennedy announced in his address from the White House are these:

1. A request to Congress for an additional appropriation of $3,247,000,000 for the military forces, plus a request of $207 million in new funds for civil defense.

2. A request for an increase of about 125,000 men in the Army's total authorized strength, which presently stands at 875,000, to bring the new level up to a million men.

3. A request for an increase of 29,000 in the active-duty strength of the Navy and 63,000 in the active-duty strength of the Air Force.

4. An immediate order, which is within the President's present authority, that draft calls "be doubled and tripled in the coming months," plus a request from Congress for authority to call up various ready reserve units and individual reservists. Given such authority, Kennedy said he plans to order a number of air transport squadrons and Air National Guard tactical squadrons to active duty in order to increase U.S. airlift capacity. He said other reserve forces will be called up if needed.

5. Retention and reactivation of "many ships and planes" which have been retired from active service or were due for retirement. Kennedy said specifically he would delay retirement of B47 bombers in order to strengthen U.S. strategic airpower.

6. Procurement of nonnuclear weapons, ammunition and equipment at a level which will take about $1.8 billion, or a little more than half of the $3,247,000,000 requested new military money.

Kennedy said he had heard the argument that West Berlin, surrounded by Soviet troops and close to Soviet supply lines, was "militarily untenable."

"So was Bastogne. So, in fact, was Stalingrad. Any dangerous spot is tenable if brave men will make it so," Kennedy said.

The President delivered his speech seated behind his desk in his White House office. His manner was intense and somber throughout. He never smiled.

Because of added personal remarks at the end, which he spoke with extra emphasis, he ran nearly two minutes overtime on his half-hour talk.

Congress gave enthusiastic support to Kennedy's warning to the Kremlin. Both Republicans and

First Damage Signs Appear In County's Wheat Harvest

First signs of damage to the Pickaway County wheat crop were beginning to show here yesterday.

Richard Bowers, manager of the local Pickaway Grain Co., said a slight sprout damage has been detected. He said another moisture damage known as "tombstone" mold has been evident in some tests made on wheat from the northern part of the county.

Most area elevators and farmers have been working at full speed when rainless weather permitted in an effort to complete an already late harvest. Rain cramped proceedings Monday, but several clear days last week were utilized for maximum combining.

According to records of the grain company here, approximately two-thirds of the 1961 crop has been harvested.

BOWERS disclosed that more than 200,000 bushels of wheat have been purchased by the Pickaway Grain so far this season.

He added that the quality had been exceptionally good, until earlier this week when the sprout damage and "tombstone" mold began to appear.

Tragic Story Is Related by Farm Woman

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—A heartbroken West Texas farm woman, Vera Kinsey, 41, of Midland, bared details of a tragic chain of events that led to the shooting deaths of her ex-husband and four of their five children.

She said trouble began when she became pregnant by another man. This led to a divorce. Mrs. Kinsey then came to a Fort Worth maternity home to have her baby, which she placed for adoption.

Mrs. Kinsey told of a telephone conversation with her family Sunday night, only a few hours before her ex-husband, Fred Milton Kinsey, 58, shot to death their three sons and a daughter and then killed himself.

A daughter, Vera Louise, 15, managed to escape with her life, although wounded in the abdomen.

Mrs. Kinsey said she had arranged to return home.

"We had agreed to be remarried," she sobbed.

During the telephone conversation, Mrs. Kinsey said, her son James David, 17, told her that her former husband wanted to know if she could bring the baby.

"I told him no, it was too late. The baby had been placed for adoption," she related.

Then she quoted James as saying: "Daddy said he would give every penny he has to have that baby."

A few hours after the telephone conversation Kinsey, a former mental patient, shot to death his four children and killed himself.

Sunday Closing Case Pressed in Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP)—Chief Police Prosecutor Richard F. Matia says he plans to file affidavits today charging Sunday closing law violations against Masters Discount Mart, Inc. and a Giant Tiger store. Matia said evidence gathered by Sunday, Inc., shoppers consisted of an electric plug and a nailset. He said he would not issue charges against Lawson Milk Co. stores because of the necessity nature of its dairy and food items.

Democrats signaled solid support for his request for new defense spending.

The grain company manager related that most farmers have been "pleased" to a certain degree concerning the way prices paid for their wheat have held up.

Yesterday the grain company was paying $1.82 per bushel. Bowers commented that the price is 14 cents above government loan value if the grain is stored in an elevator.

"In general," Bowers said, "farmers in this area have come out in pretty good shape from what could have been a serious loss."

"Many farmers in Pickaway County will want to compare this year's yield with last year's," he noted.

He said this would be an unfair

Cleveland Butcher Quitting Business

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Ohio Provision Co. here has stopped butchering hogs after 60 years and will halt operations after it disposes of its backlog. The company's kill had totaled approximately 1,700 hogs daily.

Sterling Newell, company attorney, said nearly 250 employees have been laid off as a result of the failure of the firm to process and sell its products at a profit.

"We were caught in the squeeze," Newell said. "As a packer we were unable to make a profit after paying for the hogs and then trying to slice it (sic) into pork chops and sell to the housewife who is looking for meat at a cheaper price."

U.S. Secret Service Chief To Retire

WASHINGTON (AP)—U. E. Baughman, chief of the Secret Service, will retire Aug. 31.

That was disclosed today in an exchange of letters between Baughman and Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon.

The chief function of the Secret Service, in addition to guarding a president and his family, is combating counterfeiting and forging of government documents, including checks. It is part of the Treasury Department.

Baughman, 56, has headed the Secret Service for almost 13 years. All told, he has been with the organization for more than 33 years.

He wrote Dillon that he regretted retiring, but needed a complete rest. Dillon said he received the resignation with genuine regret.

Strange Virus Halts Part Of Polio Vaccine Production

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Public Health Service said today that two of the five major manufacturers of Salk polio vaccine have temporarily suspended production because of the presence of a virus in their product.

The virus, a newly discovered one, came from monkey kidney tissue, used to make the vaccine. Although production was halted, officials stressed there was no evidence the virus would sicken man.

The service said that all Salk vaccines released during the last two months had been tested for presence of the virus, designated SV40, and only those which were free if it were cleared for general use.

Under law, the service does not identify the manufacturers involved, but it was learned that the firms which have suspended production are Merck Sharp & Dohme, a division of Merck, Inc.; and Parke, Davis & Co.

The two firms together have accounted for something like 25 per cent of the nation's total output of Salk vaccine.

However, a service spokesman said it is not expected that withdrawal from the market will cause a general shortage of the vaccine.

The service said the monkey virus is known to multiply in man under certain conditions but there is no evidence that small amounts, when introduced through the vaccine, produce illness in man.

In Philadelphia, Merck Sharp & Dohme confirmed it had stopped production.

A company spokesman said the National Institute of Health in Washington has ruled the new virus was not dangerous to humans. Therefore, none of the vaccine in the hands of doctors has been recalled, the spokesman added.

Merck Sharp & Dohme said it stopped production "several weeks ago." It declined to say how much vaccine it had manufactured this year. The Salk vaccine generally is regarded to have a six-month expiration date.

In New York, a spokesman for Charles Pfizer & Co., said the company had had no virus problems and that production of the vaccine was proceeding normally.

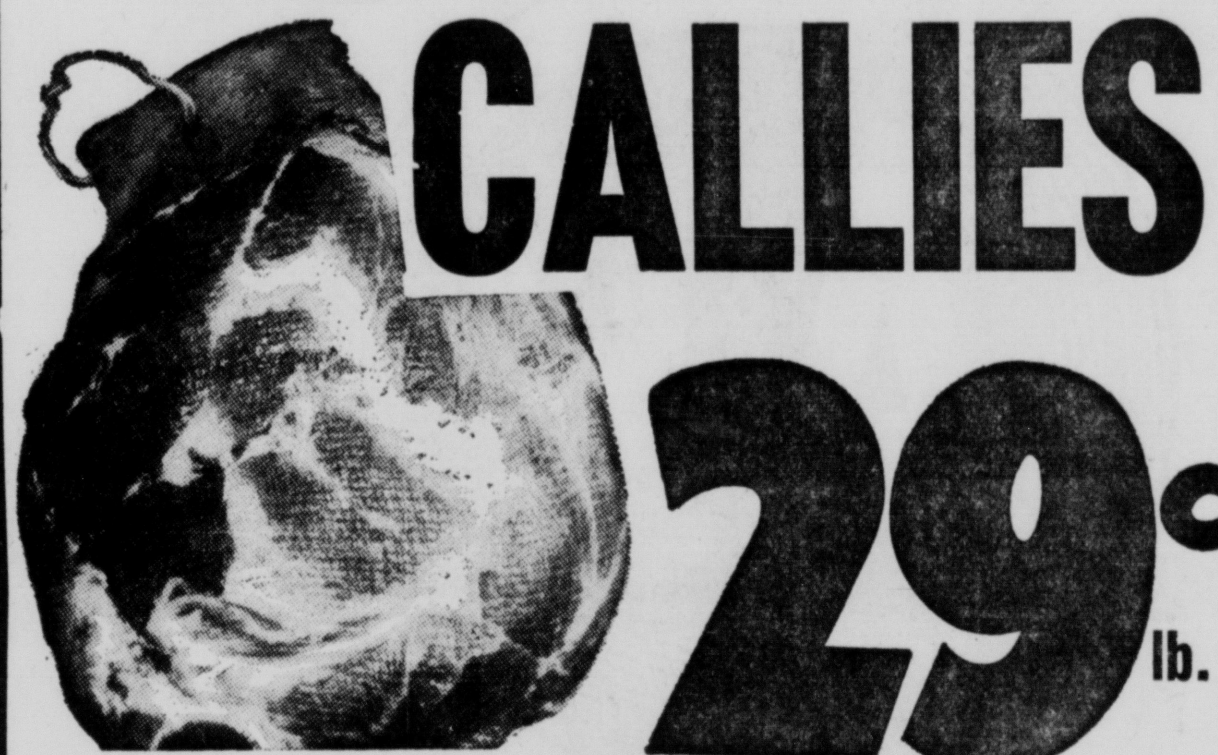

Similar reports were given by officials of two Indianapolis producers, Eli Lilly & Co., and the Pitman-Moore Division of Dow Chemical Co.

According to records of the grain company here, approximately two-thirds of the 1961 crop has been harvested.

BOWERS disclosed that more than 200,000 bushels of wheat have been purchased by the Pickaway Grain so far this season.

He added that the quality had been exceptionally good, until earlier this week when the sprout damage and "tombstone" mold began to appear.

Tragic Story Is Related by Farm Woman

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—A heartbroken West Texas farm woman, Vera Kinsey, 41, of Midland, related details of a tragic chain of events that led to the shooting deaths of her ex-husband and four of their five children.

She said trouble began when she became pregnant by another man. This led to a divorce. Mrs. Kinsey then came to a Fort Worth maternity home to have her baby, which she placed for adoption.

Mrs. Kinsey told of a telephone conversation with her family Sunday night, only a few hours before her ex-husband, Fred Milton Kinsey, 58, shot to death their three sons and a daughter and then killed himself.

A daughter, Vera Louise, 15, managed to escape with her life, although wounded in the abdomen.

Mrs. Kinsey said she had arranged to return home.

"We had agreed to be remarried," she sobbed.

During the telephone conversation, Mrs. Kinsey said, her son James David, 17, told her that her former husband wanted to know if she could bring the baby.

"I told him no, it was too late. The baby had been placed for adoption," she related.

Then she quoted James as saying: "Daddy said he would give every penny he has to have that baby."

A few hours after the telephone conversation Kinsey, a former mental patient, shot to death his four children and killed himself.

Sunday Closing Case Pressed in Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP)—Chief Police Prosecutor Richard F. Matia says he plans to file affidavits today charging Sunday closing law violations against Masters Discount Mart, Inc. and a Giant Tiger store. Matia said evidence gathered by Sunday, Inc., shoppers consisted of an electric plug and a nailset. He said he would not issue charges against Lawson Milk Co. stores because of the necessity nature of its dairy and food items.

Democrats signaled solid support for his request for new defense spending.

The grain company manager related that most farmers have been "pleased" to a certain degree concerning the way prices paid for their wheat have held up.

Yesterday the grain company was paying $1.82 per bushel. Bowers commented that the price is 14 cents above government loan value if the grain is stored in an elevator.

"In general," Bowers said, "farmers in this area have come out in pretty good shape from what could have been a serious loss."

"Many farmers in Pickaway County will want to compare this year's yield with last year's," he noted.

He said this would be an unfair comparison since last year's wheat crop was one of the best to be recorded in this area.

The 1961 oats crop will be ready for harvest in a day or so, according to Bowers.

The recent spot rains probably have been an asset to the oat crop, since farmers had a late planting season.

The over-all crop picture for the county so far calls for at least an average oat crop. If fair and warm weather prevails for a few more days the wheat harvest is expected to come to a successful conclusion.

U.S. Secret Service Chieftain To Retire

WASHINGTON (AP) — U. E. Baughman, chief of the Secret Service, will retire Aug. 31.

That was disclosed today in an exchange of letters between Baughman and Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon.

The chief function of the Secret Service, in addition to guarding a president and his family, is combating counterfeiting and forging of government documents, including checks. It is part of the Treasury Department.

Baughman, 56, has headed the Secret Service for almost 13 years. All told, he has been with the organization for more than 33 years.

He wrote Dillon that he regretted retiring, but needed a complete rest. Dillon said he received the resignation with genuine regret.

Strange Virus Halts Part Of Polio Vaccine Production

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Public Health Service said today that two of the five major manufacturers of Salk polio vaccine have temporarily suspended production because of the presence of a virus in their product.

The virus, a newly discovered one, came from monkey kidney tissue, used to make the vaccine. Although production was halted, officials stressed there was no evidence the virus would sicken man.

The service said that all Salk vaccines released during the last two months had been tested for presence of the virus, designated SV40, and only those which were free if it were cleared for general use.

Under law, the service does not identify the manufacturers involved, but it was learned that the firms which have suspended production are Merck Sharp & Dohme, a division of Merck, Inc.; and Parke, Davis & Co.

The two firms together have accounted for something like 25 per cent of the nation's total output of Salk vaccine.

However, a service spokesman said it is not expected that withdrawal from the market will cause a general shortage of the vaccine.

The service said the monkey virus is known to multiply in man under certain conditions but there is no evidence that small amounts, when introduced through the vaccine, produce illness in man.

In Philadelphia, Merck Sharp & Dohme confirmed it had stopped production.

A company spokesman said the National Institute of Health in Washington has ruled the new virus was not dangerous to humans. Therefore, none of the vaccine now in the hands of doctors has been recalled, the spokesman added.

Merck Sharp & Dohme said it stopped production "several weeks ago." It declined to say how much vaccine it had manufactured this year. The Salk vaccine generally is regarded to have a six-month expiration date.

In New York, a spokesman for Charles Pfizer & Co., said the company had had so virus problems and that production of the vaccine was proceeding normally.

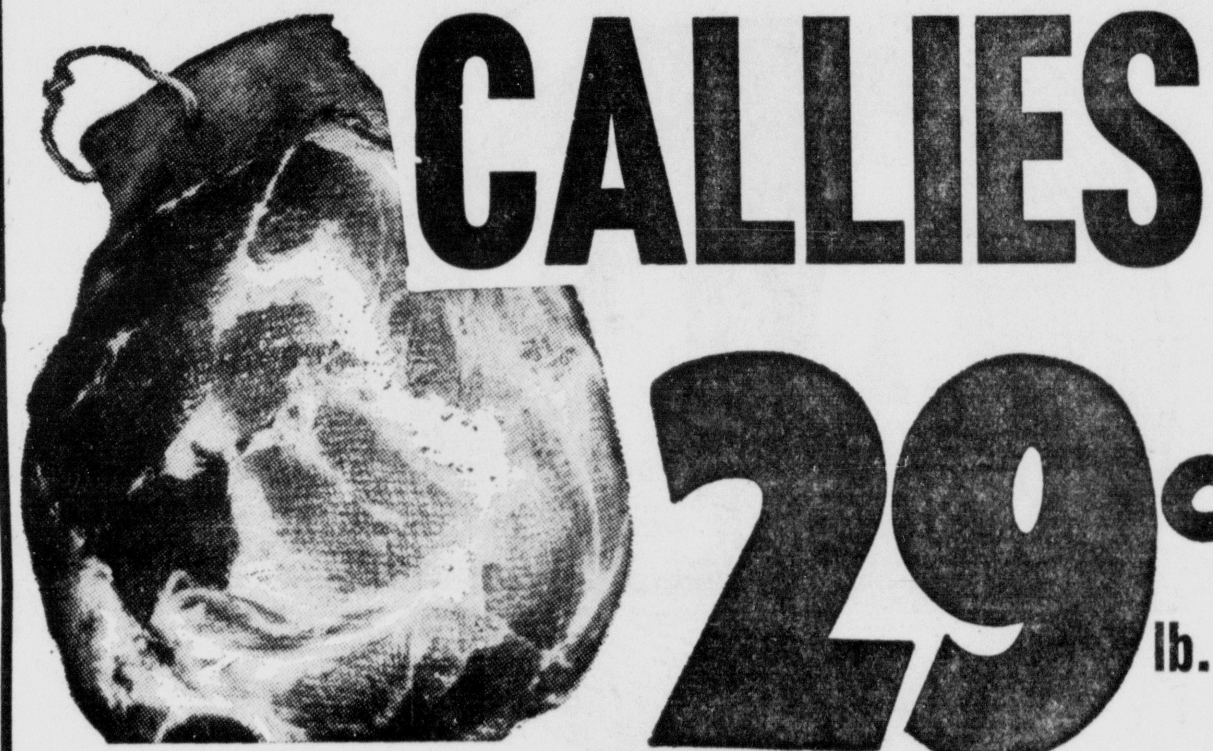

Similar reports were given by officials of two Indianapolis producers, Eli Lilly & Co., and the Pittman-Moore Division of Dow Chemical Co.

All-Star Team To Play for District Crown

Two Home Runs Hoist Locals to 5-4 Overtime Win

Circleville's Babe Ruth League all-stars braced themselves for the Eighth District tournament championship contest today, after stopping Greenville 5-4 in a rugged extra-inning semi-final contest yesterday at New Carlisle.

Winning hurler Wendell Lovett and Tom Copland kept the locals in the scrap by unleashing seventh-inning home runs good for three markers.

Greenville had held a 3-1 lead going into the seventh. The losers plated one in the second as Penger and Ungericht singled. One run had come without a hit in the first.

Circleville narrowed the gap to 2-1 in the top of the fifth as Skip Lutz rocketed home with an unearned counter. Niswonger regained Greenville's two-run advantage in the last of the fifth, scoring on two errors.

BASS fanned to lead off Circleville's half of the seventh, but Lovett unloaded his homer to clip the score to 3-2.

After Lutz had struck out, Howard Dade cracked a stinging single. Copland stepped up and promptly evened the score with a towering home run shot. Jeff Lutz whiffed to end the frame.

Greenville's Niswonger lived up to his reputation as a clutch slugger in the bottom of the seventh. With one away, he clouted a home run to send the contest into overtime.

Chet Jerry grounded out in the top of the eighth. George Reeser walked and, after stealing second and third, scored on a passed ball with what was to become the winning tally.

Lovett held the lead this time, striking out two of the three men he faced in the bottom of the eighth.

The all-stars return to New Carlisle to play for the district crown at 6 p. m. today. Their opponent, determined in a scrap late last night, will be either a Columbus or London team.

IF THE locals win tonight, they will move on to Springfield to contend for the much-sought state championship Aug. 4-5-6.

Umpires at last night's battle labeled the Circleville contingent "the most fired-up team" they had seen during tournament action.

TV Nine Wins Tourney Game

Stonerock's used seven hits, including Tom Turner's triple, to drop Penny's Confectionary of Greenfield 8-1 in last night's opening district softball tournament contest at Ted Lewis Park.

Winning hurler Harry Strawser was in top form, scattering four hits in a route-going victory. The losers got their only score in the fourth as Ritcher and Mossbarger singled.

River Oil of Chillicothe defeated the Sportsman's Club of Hillsboro 3-1 in the night's second tilt.

Trotting Champions To Meet Saturday

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A first meeting between Merrie Duke, the 4-year-old trotting champion, and Elaine Rodney, the champion 3-year-old filly of 1960, is expected to feature Saturday night's Harness Tracks of America trot at Scioto Downs.

The two standouts are among a dozen top 4-year-olds named for the $9,300 third leg of the HTA series. Elaine Rodney copped the first two legs of the five leading up to the $50,000 finale at Yonkers Raceway, New York, Sept. 14.

Blanket Donors, Purses Set For Fair's Harness Program

Purse totals and blanket donors for the 1961 Pickaway County racing program have been announced by Agricultural Society officials.

The speed spectacular is slated to start at 2 p. m. next Tuesday. A two-year-old pace in the stake, added money classification will open the card. The purse is worth $1,200. Blanket donor is the George W. Van Camp Construction Co.

A 25-class trot follows the opener, with entries on an overnight basis.

New Promotions Panel Set Up for U.S. Harness Racing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A nine-man committee from the United States Trotting Association and Harness Tracks of America was named today to guide promotional activities of American harness racing.

Donald D. MacFarlane, president of Harness Tracks of America, and Walter J. Michael, USTA President, announced the committee, drawn from both groups. It will hold its initial meeting in New York City next week.

Committee members: Earl F. Gibson, Suffolk Downs, Boston; Gene Hayes, Du Quoin State Fair, Du Quoin, Ill.; Pres Jenuine, Western Harness Racing Association, Los Angeles; John Miller, Rosecroft Raceway, Washington, D.C.; Ernest Morris, Saratoga, N.Y.; Raceway; Corwin Nixon, Lebanon and Hamilton Raceways, Lebanon, Ohio; William H. Lima Pacer Captures Scioto Downs Laurels

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Chief Isaac, owned and driven by Bob Wehner of Lima, took the lead at the start and led all the way to win the featured Class C-1 at Scioto Downs Tuesday night in 2:06 1-5.

The black gelding won by a half-length over Erieta and paid $13.40. Erieta returned $15, and Double Star paid $3.80 for show.

Jockey Bill Hartack led the nation's riders in victories in 1960 with 307 winners. It was his fourth title since he began riding late in 1952.

Meanwhile, Merrie Duke, owned by Byron Kuth of Chesterland, Ohio, has been winning some of the biggest races in the east.

Tribe Hurlers Newest Tack Fails To Win

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Cleveland pitcher Jim Perry is trying every way he knows to get back on the winning track.

Tuesday night he tried a new approach. Perry waited until the first inning was under way before he started warming up. And it worked fine—for seven innings. Until then he was pitching a two-hit shutout against the Kansas City Athletics. But the A's got him for three runs in the eighth and won, 3-2.

Perry (7-8) gave up a double to Haywood Sullivan. A passed ball, a walk and another double produced the A's first run. Wayne Causey then made his third hit of the game, a single which drove in a run. Bob Allen relieved Perry at that point and threw two wild pitches, allowing Causey to score to put Kansas City ahead, 3-2.

The Indians threatened in the ninth when they loaded the bases with only one out. Don Dillard and Ken Aspromonte singled. After Jim Piersall advanced them with a sacrifice, Tito Francona was walked intentionally.

Gerry Staley came in and got Bubba Phillips to hit into a game-ending double play.

Cleveland had to work hard for its two runs against starter and winner Jerry Walker. When Walker was taken out for a pinch hitter in the eighth he had allowed only three hits, one of them a solo homer by Willie Kirkland in the eighth, his 18th.

Hitters Fail To Back Up Redleg Hurler

CINCINNATI (AP) — Young Ken Hunt Tuesday night demonstrated he has regained his touch on the mound—but that proved to be not enough to keep the Milwaukee Braves from beating the Cincinnati Reds, 2-0.

The Reds, who just snapped out of a six-game losing streak, kept a thin one-game lead in the National League after Los Angeles beat the Philadelphia Phillies, 7-2.

Hunt gave up only five hits to the Braves—as many as he yielded in one-third of an inning last Saturday—but his teammates failed to support him with their bats as Cincinnati was shut out for the third time this year.

Leo Cardenas' single in the fourth and Don Blasingame's double in the seventh were the only hits Cincinnati scored. Even Frank Robinson, who had hit safely in 19 straight games, failed to connect. But he was the only other Red to reach base—on a walk.

Milwaukee's first run came on Hank Aaron's 24th homer in the fourth inning. Winner Lew Burdette (12-6) singled home another run in the seventh.

Hunt, 22, is making a good thing out of his first year with the majors. He now has a 9-7 record, and has struck out 61 foes.

Opponents and teammates alike have tagged the 6-5 righthander as a pitcher who will go far.

A record 1,887 golfers entered the 1961 Junior Amateur championship.

Savings Drops Third National

Savings Bank hurler Lewis Jordan survived an eight-run thrust in the third inning by Third National and went on to cop a 17-10 victory in last night's only Babe Ruth minor contest.

Hedges single produced three runs in the first for the winners. After the National squad recorded two without a hit in the opening frame, Savings picked up a pair on Hedges second straight one-bagger in the second.

Cole, Wills and Brown singled as Savings punched across a trio of tallies on the third. National's big barrage followed. Leach and Lindsey doubled, Winner tripled and Thompson singled. Three men walked as the losers chalked eight counters.

Jordan held Third scoreless and hitless the rest of the route. Savings racked up three in the fourth, four in the fifth and closed with two in the sixth on singles by Barnhill and Jordan.

Yearlings Fetch Record High Prices

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Mrs. Elizabeth N. Graham paid $70,000 Tuesday night for a brown colt by Turn-To at the Keeneland summer thoroughbred yearling sale.

The owner of Maine Chance Farm here paid the same amount Monday night in setting a new world's record for a filly. The old mark was $63,000.

Another world record was shattered Monday night when John Olin of New York bought a Swaps colt for $130,000.

The Turn-To colt, out of Alanesian by Plynesian, was consigned by the Nuckols Brothers' Hurland Farm at Midway.

Coke Wins Second in Row; Bethel Loses Heartbreaker

Coca-Cola, streaking down the stretch of the Little Major League pennant drive, won its second straight game last night, topping Purina, 11-3. Mac Bethel lost a real heart-breaker for the Herald as Frank Carter singled with two men out in the last of the sixth to break up Bethel's no-hitter and give American Legion a 2-1 win.

In the minors, Circleville Oil dropped First National Bank by a 15-4 count and Savings Bank edged past Second National, 7-6.

Coke shoved Purina starter Bill Hill off the mound in the first with a four-run barrage. Tom Wright opened with a single and Rick Congrove tripled. Dade doubled, Byrd singled, Young cracked a two-bagger and Sims singled before the side was retired.

Craig Lambert singled for one Ralston tally in the first. In the second Sines singled as Coke went on the warpath for five more counters. They added two in the fourth without a safety.

BILL HILL doubled to produce one Checkerboard marker in the second. The losers got their final run in the fifth without a hit. In the hill battle of Hills, Bill Hill was the loser and George Hill went the distance for the win.

Bethel held Legion without a hit through the first five innings. The AL boys registered one tally in the fifth as Miller scored on errors, and The Herald counted one in the same frame when Humble walked and scored.

Jim Moorehead retired the paper crew without a run in the top of the sixth as Bethel singled and died on first.

In the last of the sixth, Dahl lead off by reaching first on an infield miscue. Bethel struck Plum out and, after Speakman shoved Dahl to second on a fielder's choice, Moorehead popped out to first.

The Herald hurler was just one out away from a no-hitter. Shortstop Carter connected for a looping one-bagger that sent Dahl ploughing home with the winning run and a loss for Bethel. Moorehead was the winner.

The losing moundsman had two of the Herald's three safeties. Gilmore had the other one, a second-inning double.

THE OIL squad had little difficulty figuring out McKenzie's tosses for First National. The winners jumped off to a 5-0 lead in the first, and scored four more in the second.

First National got into the scoring act in the bottom of the third, plating a quartet of counters on singles by Kiser, McKenzie, Eitel, Brannon and Miller. Winning pitcher Stevens blanked them the rest of the way, scattering four hits.

Dan Grooms widened the Oilers margin with a third frame homer during a three-run uprising. They closed with one in the fifth and a pair in the sixth on triples by Grooms and Dick Schlegler.

Savings Bank and Second National each scored once in the opening stanza. In the second, singles by winning hurler Bollenhouse, Dresback and Smith gave the Savings boys a 2-1 advantage.

Thimmes doubled as the Nationalites tallied three time in the top of the third. The home outfit got these back in the bottom half, marking three as Bollenhouse and Smith unloaded their second singles.

Savings plated one in the fourth as Second was held scoreless in the fourth and fifth. In the top of the sixth the visitors evened the count as Hoffman doubled for one run and Blanton brought him home on a single.

THE FIRST two Savings men went down without trouble for Second hurler Thimmes. He got into trouble when Varble smacked a single. Ankrom sent the fans streaming for their aces a minute later as he doubled to plate Varble with the winning run.

Richie Ashburn, Chicago Club outfielder, has hit above .300 eight seasons in the National League.

Hitters Fail To Back Up Redleg Hurler

CINCINNATI (AP) — Young Ken Hunt Tuesday night demonstrated he has regained his touch on the mound—but that proved to be not enough to keep the Milwaukee Braves from beating the Cincinnati Reds, 2-0.

The Reds, who just snapped out of a six-game losing streak, kept a thin one-game lead in the National League after Los Angeles beat the Philadelphia Phillies, 7-2.

Hunt gave up only five hits to the Braves—as many as he yielded in one-third of an inning last Saturday—but his teammates failed to support him with their bats as Cincinnati was shut out for the third time this year.

Leo Cardenas' single in the fourth and Don Blasingame's double in the seventh were the only hits Cincinnati scored. Even Frank Robinson, who had hit safely in 19 straight games, failed to connect. But he was the only other Red to reach base—on a walk.

Milwaukee's first run came on Hank Aaron's 24th homer in the fourth inning. Winner Lew Burdette (12-6) singled home another run in the seventh.

Hunt, 22, is making a good thing out of his first year with the majors. He now has a 9-7 record, and has struck out 61 batters.

Opponents and teammates alike have tagged the 6-5 right-hander as a pitcher who will go far.

A record 1,887 golfers entered the 1961 Junior Amateur championship.

Ohio Legion Baseball Test Due in Athens

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Fourteen teams will begin competition here next Monday for the annual Ohio American Legion baseball championship. Drawings will be held next Sunday night at Ohio University.

Six of the 14 district championship teams to compete were in last years tournament—a double elimination affair. The play will continue through the week with the championship game scheduled for Aug. 5.

The teams to compete include Lima, last years champion; Piqua Portsmouth, Lancaster, Steubenville and Bridgeport, all of whom played in the state tournament last year, and Archbold, Cincinnati Gaylord, Tiffin, Marion, Warren, Columbus Camp Chase, Euclid and Hudson.

Hopeful Direct Cops Feature at Hamilton

HAMILTON, OHIO (AP) — Hopful Direct was adjudged the victor of a photo-finish with Billy Delight in the featured eighth race at Hamilton Raceway Tuesday night.

Hopeful Direct's time for the mile was 2:09 3-5, and her payoff was $18. Billy Delight paid $12.40, and Highlawn Wallace returned $4.20 for show.

Savings Drops Third National

Savings Bank hurler Lewis Jordan survived an eight-run thrust in the third inning by Third National and went on to cop a 17-10 victory in last night's only Babe Ruth minor contest.

Hedges single produced three runs in the first for the winners. After the National squad recorded two without a hit in the opening frame, Savings picked up a pair on Hedges second straight one-bagger in the second.

Cole, Wills and Brown singled as Savings punched across a trio of tallies on the third. National's big barrage followed. Leach and Lindsey doubled, Winner tripled and Thompson singled. Three men walked as the losers chalked eight counters.

Jordan held Third scoreless and hitless the rest of the route. Savings racked up three in the fourth, four in the fifth and closed with two in the sixth on singles by Barnhill and Jordan.

Yearlings Fetch Record High Prices

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Mrs. Elizabeth N. Graham paid $70,000 Tuesday night for a brown colt by Turn-To at the Keeneland summer thoroughbred yearling sale.

The owner of Maine Chance Farm here paid the same amount Monday night in setting a new world's record for a filly. The old mark was $63,000.

Another world record was shattered Monday night when John Olin of New York bought a Swaps colt for $130,000.

The Turn-To colt, out of Alanesian by Plyniesian, was consigned by the Nuckolls Brothers' Hurland Farm at Midway.

Coke Wins Second in Row; Bethel Loses Heartbreaker

Coca-Cola, streaking down the stretch of the Little Major League pennant drive, won its second straight game last night, topping Purina, 11-3. Mac Bethel lost a real heart-breaker for the Herald as Frank Carter singled with two men out in the last of the sixth to break up Bethel's no-hitter and give American Legion a 2-1 win.

In the minors, Circleville Oil dropped First National Bank by a 15-4 count and Savings Bank edged past Second National, 7-6.

Coke shoved Purina starter Bill Hill off the mound in the first with a four-run barrage. Tom Wright opened with a single and Rick Congrove tripled. Dade doubled, Byrd singled, Young cracked a two-bagger and Sims singled before the side was retired.

Craig Lambert singled for one Ralston tally in the first. In the second Sims singled as Coke went on the warpath for five more counters. They added two in the fourth without a safety.

BILL HILL doubled to produce one Checkerboard marker in the second. The losers got their final run in the fifth without a hit. In the hill battle of Hills, Bill Hill was the loser and George Hill hit the distance for the win.

Bethel held Legion without a hit through the first five innings. The AL boys registered one tally in the fifth as Miller scored on errors, and The Herald counted one in the same frame when Humble walked and scored.

Jim Moorehead retired the pitcher crew without a run in the top of the sixth as Bethel singled and died on first.

In the last of the sixth, Dahl lead off by reaching first on an infield miscue. Bethel struck Plum out and, after Speakman shoved Dahl to second on a fielder's choice, Moorehead popped out to first.

The Herald hurler was just one out away from a no-hitter. Shortstop Carter connected for a looping one-bagger that sent Dahl ploughing home with the winning run and a loss for Bethel. Moorehead was the winner.

The losing moundsman had two of the Herald's three safeties. Gilmore had the other one, a second-inning double.

THE OIL squad had little difficulty figuring out McKenzie's tosses for First National. The winners jumped off to a 5-0 lead in the first, and scored four more in the second.

First National got into the scoring act in the bottom of the third, playing a quartet of counters on singles by Kiser, McKenzie, Eitel, Brannon and Miller. Winning pitcher Stevens blanked them the rest of the way, scattering four hits.

Dan Grooms wined the Oilers margin with a third frame homer during a three-run uprising. They closed with one in the fifth and a pair in the sixth on triples by Grooms and Dick Schlegler. Savings Bank and Second National each scored once in the opening stanza. In the second, singles by winning hurler Boltenhouse, Dresback and Smith gave the Savings boys a 2-1 advantage.

Thimmes doubled as the Nationalites tallied three time in the top of the third. The home outfit got these back in the bottom half, marking three as Boltenhouse and Smith unloaded their second singles.

Savings played one in the fourth as Second was held scoreless in the fourth and fifth. In the top of the sixth the visitors evened the count as Hoffman doubled for one run and Blanton brought him home on a single.

THE FIRST two Savings men went down without trouble for Second hurler Thimmes. He got into trouble when Varble smacked a single. Ankrom sent the fans streaming for their acers a minute later as he doubled to plate Varble with the winning run.

Richie Ashburn, Chicago Club outfielder, has hit above .300 eight seasons in the National League.

Pomeroy Woman
Mystified by Jet
Airplane Situation

POMEROY, Ohio (AP)—A woman telephone caller threw the Meigs County sheriff's department for a loss today.

All she wanted the boys to do was to ground a jet plane that "has been flying over my house, scaring my 2-year-old boy to death."

The deputy answering the phone said, "well, what could we possibly do?"

The woman replied, "well, you can find out who's flying the plane, can't you?"

The deputy told her the nearest jet base he knew about was near Columbus, and that even if it could be contacted, it would be impossible to get the pilots name.

The complainant wasn't convinced.

"Lots of Pomeroy boys around here drive jets, don't they?" she said.

That closed the conversation.

GOP Aide Accepts
DiSalle Challenge

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Speaker Roger Cloud of the Ohio House said today he will accept an invitation to debate with Gov. Michael V. DiSalle Sept. 16 in Cleveland on the record of the 104th Ohio General Assembly.

The debate will be before the Cleveland City Club.

Cloud, R-Logan, said he may engage in "four or five" debates with DiSalle in the state, but will not accept the governors invitation to accompany him on a statewide tour DiSalle plans.

The Dwyer Handicap was named after the Dwyer brothers, Mike and Phil, wholesale Brooklyn butchers who owned stock in Aqueduct race track more than 40 years ago.

BALL PLAYERS' DREAM COMES TRUE?—Nope—it's just an optical illusion with the camera angle making it appear that an unidentified Boston Red Sox player is whacking umpire Frank Dumont with his bat as the man in blue bends over to dust off home plate during a game in Cleveland. Dumont is obviously unaware of the scene being created.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—O. L. Teegarden of Oak Harbor, a member of the Ohio Turnpike Commission since it was formed in 1949, yesterday was appointed to another eight-year term by Gov. Michael V. DiSalle.

DiSalle also appointed Joseph Carney, Cincinnati attorney, to a five-year term as a trustee of the Ohio Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphans Home.

Howard Stratton of Slushing was reappointed to the Reclamation Board of Review for a five-year term.

EVERYBODY'S BOATING
By Frank Kuchirchuk, Central Press Writer

THIS picture, showing a boat in flames, is just one of many photos in files of the U. S. Coast Guard.

Most such fires and or explosions are caused by fuel leakage or accumulation of fumes in the bilges.

The Coast Guard believes observing the following regulations could have prevented most of these accidents.

First, all corners of the boat should be ventilated. Gasoline fumes do accumulate and, since these vapors are heavier than air, tend to settle in the bottom. Proper ventilation is the only solution to this problem.

Bear in mind that ventilation means air in motion—its got to get in and out.

Fuel leakage is the other cause of danger. All connections must be tight at all times. The entire fuel system and accessories should be inspected regularly. The carburetor is especially susceptible to leakage. In this case the mere turning of the ignition switch causes an explosion when the spark reaches the gasoline.

Be mindful that fuel tanks corrode. When fueling up it is important that all hatches and openings be closed. Then re-open them and start ventilation system before starting engines. To help the boater there is an automatic "sniffer" which detects fumes.

Boating safety is no accident. Continuous vigilance against fuel leaks and escaping vapors is the best life insurance boaters can have.

Maris Threatens Babe Ruth Mark

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Roger Maris four-homer spectacular has convinced even the skeptics that Babe Ruth's 34-year-old home run record of 60 in a season is in grave danger.

The 26-year-old Yankee outfielder blasted two in each game of the Yanks 5-1 and 12-0 trouncings of the Chicago White Sox Tuesday night that sent the New Yorkers soaring into first place, a half-game ahead of Detroit. The Tigers were beaten 5-4 in the ninth by the Angels two-run counter rally at Los Angeles.

Jets Win Two For 9-Game Bulge in IL

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Columbus Jets are making a shambles of the International League pennant race.

The red-hot Jets increased their lead to nine games Tuesday night when they rolled over Toronto in a twin bill, 3-2 and 5-2, behind the strong left arms of Don Rowe and Fred Green.

In other league games, Syracuse and Jersey City split a pair, the Chiefs taking the first one, 5-1, and the Jerseys the second, 5-2; Buffalo trounced Richmond, 5-2, and Rochester at Charleston was rained out.

Rowe fired a two-hitter for the Jets in the first contest to gain his sixth consecutive victory after losing his first start. Both hits were homers — one Hannah's sixth and Lou Johnson's seventh. Donn Clendenon struck the game-winning blow — a two-run homer — in the third off loser Rip Coleman.

In the nightcap, Steve Ridzik was working on a two-hitter for the Maple Leafs with a two run lead when the Jets exploded in the sixth for three runs. The big blow was a triple by Johnny Powers which tied the score. He scored in a single by Roman Mejias.

OLEAN, N. Y. (AP) — A phrase found in a 390-year-old science book at the St. Bonaventure University library is as appropriate today as it was in 1571.

In a treatise on alchemy, written by Grataroli and printed in Balse, appeared a motto of 16th Century chemists: "At nature's boundaries, science begins experiments."

Jickey Steve Brooks ranks fourth on te list of all - time riders in the United States. He is 40. He won his first race in 1938 at Shreveport, La.

PIGGYBACK—Andrew Schlottekot (right rear) made a quick stop to avoid striking a police car and his boat scooted off the trailer and right up on top of his car in Santa Rosa, Calif. It creased the car top and broke the windshield and no doubt irked Schlottekot.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — It was clear in President Kennedy's address to the nation Tuesday night that he sought a psychological effect. But it wasn't clear what practical effect can there be in increasing the armed forces by only 217,000 men.

At least he indicated the United States may have reached a turning point.

For years now this country has simply been reacting to Russian actions, dancing when the Russians called the tune. Judging from Kennedy's talk, the United States will now start showing some initiative in dealing with the Soviets.

But his address, tough as it was in warning the Russians they can't take Berlin without a fight, still left the door wide open for a conference with them to settle the dispute peacefully.

At one point Kennedy even indicated the West might be willing to make concessions—but not major ones—to avoid conflict. Just how far he is willing to go with concessions—or being tough —is for the future.

But there could be no doubt he had three targets and three psychological aims:

1. The American people—to prepare them perhaps for rougher things to come by telling them the administration intends to take a firm stand on Berlin, even if with Russia.
2. The Russians—to let them know, if they think the allies lack the will to fight and that threats can scare and split them, that they have war on their hands if they push too hard.
3. The allies—to stiffen their backbone, by putting the United States firmly beside them, and at the same time needle them, even embarrass them, into doing more for their own defense by increasing their own military preparations.

With all this said, the question remains:

Are the Russians going to be impressed by Kennedy's announcement he is adding 217,000 men to the armed forces — particularly when he didn't say he's sending them to Europe where the Russians far outnumber the allies in ground forces?

If they are impressed it will probably be more by Kennedy's expressed determination not to be pushed out of Berlin, leaving it up to them to guess what kind of force the United States would use to stop them.

In any showdown it is unlikely Kennedy would try to soup the Soviets with ground troops.

Two years ago—which was the last time the Russians threatened Berlin—President Eisenhower rejected arguments of his critics that the United States should make a big ground-force buildup in Europe to chill Russia's blood.

He said March 11, 1959 that such a build-up was unnecessary because "we are certainly not going to fight a ground war in Europe." This could be interpreted as meaning that if war came it would have to be a nuclear one.

Just a few months after that Kennedy—on Dec. 9, 1959, while he was still a senator—was asked if the United States was in a position to fight any kind of war for Berlin except a nuclear one. He said no.

It's possible he has changed his mind, for he said Tuesday night "we intend to have a wider choice than humiliation or all-out nuclear action."

But if he knows how the allies, tremendously outnumbered on the ground, could hope to stop the Russians short of nuclear war he didn't explain that.

He may have meant that by taking the tough line he followed he hopes to convince the Russians he means business and that the way to avoid a nuclear war is not to start any kind of war.

Jets Win Two For 9-Game Bulge in IL

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Columbus Jets are making a shambles of the International League pennant race.

The red-hot Jets increased their lead to nine games Tuesday night when they rolled over Toronto in a twin bill, 3-2 and 5-2, behind the strong left arms of Don Rowe and Fred Green.

In other league games, Syracuse and Jersey City split a pair, the Chiefs taking the first one, 5-1, and the Jerseys the second, 5-2; Buffalo trounced Richmond, 5-2; and Rochester at Charleston was rained out.

Rowe fired a two-hitter for the Jets in the first contest to gain his sixth consecutive victory after losing his first start. Both hits were homers — one Hannah's sixth and Lou Johnson's seventh. Donn Clendenon struck the game-winning blow — a two-run homer — in the third off loser Rip Coleman.

In the nightcap, Steve Ridzik was working on a two-hitter for the Maple Leafs with a two run lead when the Jets exploded in the sixth for three runs. The big blow was a triple by Johnny Powers which tied the score. He scored in a single by Roman Mejias.

OLEAN, N. Y. (AP) — A phrase found in a 390-year-old science book at the St. Bonaventure University library is as appropriate today as it was in 1571.

In a treatise on alchemy, written by Grataroli and printed in Balse, appeared a motto of 16th Century chemists: "At nature's boundaries, science begins experiments."

Jickey Steve Brooks ranks fourth on tie list of all-time riders in the United States. He is 40. He won his first race in 1938 at Shreveport, La.

PIGGYBACK—Andrew Schiottekot (right rear) made a quick stop to avoid striking a police car and his boat scooted off the trailer and right up on top of his car in Santa Rosa, Calif. It creased the car top and broke the windshield and no doubt irked Schiottekot.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — It was clear in President Kennedy's address to the nation Tuesday night that he sought a psychological effect. But it wasn't clear what practical effect can there be in increasing the armed forces by only 217,000 men.

At least he indicated the United States may have reached a turning point.

For years now this country has simply been reacting to Russian actions, dancing when the Russians called the tune. Judging from Kennedy's talk, the United States will now start showing some initiative in dealing with the Soviets.

But his address, tough as it was in warning the Russians they can't take Berlin without a fight, still left the door wide open for a conference with them to settle the dispute peacefully.

At one point Kennedy even indicated the West might be willing to make concessions—but not mat-for ones—to avoid conflict. Just how far he is willing to go with concessions—or being tough—is for the future.

But there could be no doubt he had three targets and three psychological aims:

1. The American people—to prepare them perhaps for rougher things to come by telling them the administration intends to take a firm stand on Berlin, even if with Russia.
2. The Russians—to let them know, if they think the allies lack the will to fight and that threats can scare and split them, that they have war on their hands if they push too hard.
3. The allies—to stiffen their backbone, by putting the United States firmly beside them, and at the same time needle them, even embarrass them, into doing more for their own defense by increasing their own military preparations.

With all this said, the question remains: Are the Russians going to be impressed by Kennedy's announcement he is adding 217,000 men to the armed forces — particularly when he didn't say he's sending them to Europe where the Russians far outnumber the allies in ground forces?

If they are impressed it will probably be more by Kennedy's expressed determination not to be pushed out of Berlin, leaving it up to them to guess what kind of force the United States would use to stop them.

In any showdown it is unlikely Kennedy would try to stop the Soviets with ground troops.

Two years ago—which was the last time the Russians threatened Berlin—President Eisenhower rejected arguments of his critics that the United States should make a big ground-force buildup in Europe to chill Russia's blood.

He said March 11, 1959 that such a buildup was unnecessary because "we are certainly not going to fight a ground war in Europe." This could be interpreted as meaning that if war came it would have to be a nuclear one.

Just a few months after that Kennedy—on Dec. 9, 1959, while he was still a senator—was asked if the United States was in a position to fight any kind of war for Berlin except a nuclear one. He said no.

It's possible he has changed his mind, for he said Tuesday night "we intend to have a wider choice than humiliation or all-out nuclear action."

But if he knows how the allies, tremendously outnumbered on the ground, could hope to stop the Russians short of nuclear war he didn't explain that.

He may have meant that by taking the tough line he followed he hopes to convince the Russians he means business and that the way to avoid a nuclear war is not to start any kind of war.
